STRAINED RELATIONS BETWEEN U. S. - MEXICO

COMPLICATED BY REPORTED SLAYING OF AN AMERICAN

ALBERT BETANZA IS REPORTED
KILLED BY AGRARIANS
AT RANCH

WAS A BUSINESS PARTNER OF
REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COM-
MITTEEMAN OF TEXAS

Washington, March 5. — While waiting today for official advice on the reported Mexican slaying of F. Betanza, associate of Republican National Committeeman Creager of Texas, the state department checked its records to identify Betanza, but up to noon had been unable to place him as an American citizen.

If it is found he is an American, the state department will follow its customary course in such matters, and instruct the American ambassador at Mexico City to make representations to the Mexican government for apprehension and punishment of those responsible.

Mexico City, March 5. — (UP) — Strained relations between Mexico and the United States were further complicated today by the reported slaying of Albert Betanza, American citizen, by agrarians at Lagloria ranch, state of Vera Cruz.

Betanza was a business partner of R. B. Creager, republican national committeeman from Texas, who is understood to have been on the ranch Thursday when Betanza was killed. Friends of Creager here were worried because he had not personally reported the death of his partner, but no reports of injury to him had been received.

Betanza's body was en route to Mexico City today, his widow, who is in the capital, was informed. She received first word of her husband's death from Americans in Wordova, but only meager details were included.

Washington, March 5. — An eventual break between the United States and Mexico appears inevitable unless the Calles government makes major concessions to the state department's demands. The department charges Mexican alien land-oil laws are confiscatory, and that Mexico supports movements here and in Nicaragua opposing United States' foreign policy.

Reports that the United States has definitely decided to sever diplomatic relations and lift the American embargo on arms shipments to Mexico are said to be premature. But there is every indication that President Coolidge and his advisers consider the situation grave.

While the president is moving cautiously and slowly, he is prepared for eventualities.

Officials denied today there is any thought of war, but they did not deny they are considering lifting the embargo as a last resort. According to Mexicans such action would result in counter-revolution against Calles and civil war south of the Rio Grande.

Not since war days has Washington been so inundated by rumors, counter-rumors and dire predictions. Through it all the state department and Mexican embassy maintain an almost absolute silence.

Added to this situation, Secretary of State Kellogg is on sick leave in South Carolina and Ambassador Teller on an unexplained journey to Mexico City, leaving officials in temporary charge who do not speak fully for their superiors.

Los Angeles, March 5. — Reports that four United States marines were killed recently in the Nicaraguan revolution were current today in Los Angeles shipping circles.

The rumors, entirely unconfirmed, were brought here by passengers of the Panama mail liner Venezuela.

When the liner stopped at Corinto, passengers said, talk of the death of the four Americans in fighting between the liberals and conservatives was general. Official confirmation, however, was lacking, they added.

Rumors that four marines were killed in action in Nicaragua have been current in New York and Washington for several days. They were mentioned on the floor of congress and drew from the state department the statement that one marine had been injured in an ammunition explosion but that none had been killed or injured in action.

Washington, March 5. — (UP) — The credentials of Senators-elect William S. Vare of Pennsylvania and Frank L. Smith of Illinois, both republicans, were certified as in proper form, in a report to the senate yesterday by the privileges and elections committee.

Sen. Caraway, (dem. Ark.) explained this report had nothing to do with the movements to oust these two senators on account of large primary campaign expenditures, but that would be in the province of the 70th congress to which they were elected.

PADLOCK CASES UNDER DISCUSSION

Superior, Wis., March 5. — (UP) — While attorneys were in conference today regarding disposition of five remaining padlock cases, scheduled for United States district court, two men who operated a still on the Wisconsin side of the Mississippi river near Red Wing, Minn., were sentenced to the Milwaukee house of correction for three months. They were Albert D. Vanschaick, 56, and Walter R. Anderson, 30, arrested in Pierce county Feb. 25.

B. Creager has notified friends here of the slaying on a ranch in Mexico of his business partner, known here as F. J. Betanza. Mexico City dispatches reported his name as Albert Betanza. No details were given.

Mexico City, March 5. — R. B. Creager, republican national committeeman for Texas, arrived here today from La Gloria ranch, Vera Cruz, and said that early telegraphic dispatches describing his murdered companion, Albert Betanza, as an American citizen, had been incorrect.

Betanza was killed when agrarians fired on the ranch Thursday. The confusion as to citizenship arose from the fact that Betanza had lived in Brownsville, Texas, and in California for several years.

The body was expected to arrive here today from Vera Cruz.

London, March 5. — The British cruiser Colombo, sent to Nicaragua several days ago as "a place of refuge" for British citizens, will leave Nicaragua today, the admiralty informed the United Press.

Reports from Jamaica, West Indies, saying that another British cruiser had been ordered to Nicaragua and that the Jamaican government had been ordered to prepare to transport British nationals from Nicaragua were shown the admiralty spokesman. He said there was no truth in the reports.

Kingston, Jamaica, March 5. — A British warship today was reported to have been ordered to Bluefields, Nicaragua, and the Jamaican government was reported to have been ordered to hold ships in readiness to transport British subjects who may be endangered by the revolution in the Central American country.

The British cruiser Colombo was at Corinto, Nicaragua, on the west coast today. Bluefields is on the east coast, and overland communication between the two ports is practically impossible. British subjects live on both coasts.

OPENING GUN FOR REVISING SENATE RULES

VICE PRESIDENT DAWES GIVES

SEEKS TO LIMIT DEBATE IN THE UPPER HOUSE OF CONGRESS

By THOMAS L. STOKES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, March 5. — (UP) — The tart lecture to the senate by Vice-President Dawes before the adjournment, was the opening gun of a new campaign for revision of the upper body's rules to limit debate.

The persistent vice president intends to make several speeches during the congressional recess, urging rules reform. It was learned today.

Dawes will map out his route when he returns from a trip to the Bahamas, Cuba and Panama on which he and his wife and daughter leave next week.

Dawes wrote his warning about senate rules on a slip of paper as he listened to Senator Pat Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, wind up the speech which the Mississippi senator thought would be the climax of the day's session.

Despite Dawes' repeated appeals for a change in senate rules, a majority of the upper body still is opposed to the revision he suggests. His strongest champion, Senator Underwood of Alabama, former democratic leader, has left the senate.

Senator Dill, democrat, Washington, declared in a statement that "the remedy for filibustering in the senate is to be found, not in the adoption and use of more stringent closure rules, as advocated by the vice president, but by ratification of the Norris amendment for the abolition of short sessions of congress."

FARMER GORED AND TRAMPLED BY MAD BULL

Howard Lake, Minn., March 5. — (UP) — Gored and trampled by a bull, Harry Bakeberg, woodland township farmer, suffered a broken clavicle and internal injuries.

Bakeberg was attacked by the beast while he was trying to replace a ring which had become unloosened from its nose.

The bull was finally driven off by Bakeberg's pitchfork armed relatives.

CABLES LINK AGAIN TEUTONS TO AMERICA

By FREDERICK KUH
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Berlin, March 5. — (UP) — Direct cable communication between the United States and Germany which was interrupted by the great war was restored yesterday when President Von Hindenburg and President Coolidge exchanged messages via Western Union cables to the Azores Islands and thence to Emden by a German-built cable.

Laying of the Emden-Azores cable was completed last October and since then tests and other final work have been completed. Messages between Germany and the United States will be transmitted without relay at the Azores.

Restoration of direct German cable communication will mark the beginning of a new period in the revival of Germany's foreign trade relations, not only with the United States but with Latin America and the far east, with Germany always has routed her cables by way of the United States.

EXPLOSION OF CHEMICALS IS INJURIOUS TO 2

Washington, March 5. — (UP) — An explosion of chemicals in the prohibition laboratory of the treasury department today injured two employees and wrecked one room.

Moses J. Dukes was seriously injured and taken to a hospital. Dukes two years ago was badly injured when a bottle of moonshine liquor exploded in his hands.

William T. Slaughter was severely cut by glass and slightly burned.

Dr. J. V. Linder, chief chemist of the internal revenue bureau, said the explosion was caused by the throwing of waste chemicals, used in developing denaturing alcohol formulas, into an ashcan.

The room was damaged by the explosion but the fire was immediately extinguished.

GRAND JURY TAKES UP CASE OF RUMBOAT

CONSIDERS ALLEGED ILLEGAL CAPTURE OF THE FEDERALSHIP

TAKEN BY COAST GUARD CUT-
TERS 300 MILES AT SEA

San Francisco, March 5. — (UP) — Special session of the federal grand jury was called today to consider the alleged illegal capture of the federalship, rumboat taken by coast guard cutters 300 miles at sea.

Captain C. C. Stone, captain of the vessel, was held in county jail on an old federal indictment pending against him. He said he could produce evidence that the million dollar liquor cargo of the federalship was destined to a bona fide consignee in Buena Ventura, Colombia.

Federal authorities charge that the rum was for the California bootleg trade.

"We left Vancouver on Feb. 22," Stone said. "The closest we were to the coast at any time was 60 miles. We were proceeding directly toward Buena Ventura as our steaming line would indicate, and we did not stop once until off to the coast guard vessels offshore."

MISSING URUGUAYAN FLIGHT PLANE FOUND

Paris, March 5. — (UP) — The missing Uruguayan trans-Atlantic flight plane has been found, an official telegram from Agadir, West Africa, to the French government said today. The plane, which disappeared several days ago en route from Casa Blanca, on the African mainland, to the Canary Islands, was said in the telegram to have been found 100 kilometers north-east of Cape Juby, West Africa.

DR. IRA REMSEN, 81, GREAT CHEMIST, DIES

Carmel, Calif., March 5. — (UP) — Dr. Ira Remsen, 81, president emeritus of Johns Hopkins university and internationally known for his researches in chemistry, died late last night at the Pine sanatorium here. Death resulted from a general breakdown, following an influenza attack.

FRISCO HERALD, TABLOID PAPER, GIVES UP GHOST

San Francisco, March 5. — (UP) — The San Francisco Herald, one of three ill-fated tabloid newspaper ventures started by Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., was placed in its legal grave today.

Federal Judge Frank H. Kerigan received the report of receivers for the defunct paper yesterday. He ordered that certain claims be paid and that affairs of the paper be closed.

POLICE FIND THEM AT WORK IN CHICAGO LOOP

SIX WORKING WITH THE FOUR
CAPTURED ESCAPE
POLICE

MEN ARRESTED ARE ALLEGEDLY
AMONG CITY'S MOST NOTOR-
IOUS BOOTLEGGERS

Chicago, March 5. — (UP) — Four men who are said to have syphoned more than $150,000 worth of pre-war whiskey from a government bonded warehouse within the past two days were under arrest here today after police discovered them at work in a territory just outside the Chicago loop district.

Six men who were working with the four men captured, escaped.

The men arrested are allegedly among Chicago's most notorious bootleggers. They are: William "Klondike" O'Donnell, who was said to have been with Assistant District Attorney William McSwiggan when he was shot in Cicero last spring; James "Fur" Sammons, wanted in Baltimore in connection with the Sonnabend Tailoring Co. holdup, John Barry and John Davis.

The alleged bootleggers used more than a mile of hose in draining the whiskey from a fifth floor of the warehouse to a third story apartment 300 yards away. The liquor was drained through a hose which extended over a prairie and over two intervening apartment houses.

O'Donnell had rented the apartment to use as a cache for the liquor, police said. The gang had gained admittance to the warehouse by mounting to the second floor of a building next door and sawing bars in the second floor of the warehouse.

Once inside, they mounted to the fifth floor where 10,000 cases and 500 barrels of the only legitimate whiskey in Chicago was stored.

The O'Donnell gang refused to surrender until every barrel in their revolvers had been emptied at the raiding party. A fifth member of the gang is believed to have been wounded in the gun battle between the attackers and the attacked.

Washington, March 5. — The barges, Armistead, Chatham, Orleans and Falmouth, east drift in Wednesday's northeast, are safe, according to a message from Cape Hatteras today. This reported also that the 14 ton schooner Lorena D., reported lost in the gale, had been driven ashore near Cape Hatteras, where life-savers took off the crew.

OPEN REBELLION AGAINST SPAIN IN RIFF COUNTRY

DISTURBANCES, SAY LONDON
NEWSPAPERS, NEAR TAN-
GIER, MOROCCO

GROUPS OF TRIBES MASSACRED
LARGE SPANISH WORKING PARTY

London, March 5. — (UP) — Open rebellion against Spain has broken out again in the Rifian territory near Tangier, Morocco, dispatches to London newspapers said today.

Groups of the Beni Aros and Beni Ider tribes massacred a large Spanish working party within two miles of Tetuan, the Westminster Gazette's correspondent said.

The Daily News correspondent, apparently reporting the same incident, said Djebala tribesmen had ambushed several Spaniards within a mile of Tetuan.

Heavy artillery fire was audible all day yesterday along the Tangier-Tetuan road, the dispatch added.

Well armed tribes are prepared to attack other Spanish posts within a few days, the correspondent learned from native couriers from Djebel Habid, 15 miles south of the Tangier zone.

2 BOILERS EXPLODE; ONE MAN KILLED AND ONE BADLY INJURED

Beaverfalls, Pa., March 5. — (UP) — One man was killed and another injured when two boilers of the Firestone Clay company exploded here today.

Paul Pesla, assistant factory foreman, was struck by flying metal and severely burned. He was almost instantly killed.

C. Melalwch, 42, was burned by escaping steam.

40 SEAMEN FORCED TO TAKE TO LIFEBOATS

SPANISH LINE FREIGHTER WAS BURNED 130 MILES FROM
NEW YORK

PICKED UP BY SISTER SHIP OF
SAME FREIGHTER
LINE

New York, March 5. — (UP) — Forty seamen, forced to take to life boats when the Spanish Ybana line freighter Cabo Hatteras burned 130 miles out of New York, were safe today aboard the Cabo Torres, of the same line, which was standing by in hopes of salvaging the bulk of the Hatteras after the fire burned out.

Eleven ships heard the Cabo Hatteras' SOS late yesterday and started to aid the vessel, which was between Fire Island and Montauk Point. The Cabo Torres arrived first, followed soon after by the Japanese Washington Maru. The others were notified of the rescue and returned to their courses.

For a time it was feared the crew of the Hatteras had been lost. Its wireless failed at 5:15 P. M., and no further word was received until 7:30 when news came that the crew, in three life boats, had been taken aboard the Torres.

The Hatteras' hull is of steel, and it was believed it could be salvaged. The superstructure was destroyed, messages from the Torres indicated.

The Cabo Hatteras was inbound from the Mediterranean with a cargo of general merchandise.

Fire, possibly due to tangled wires resulting from the heavy seas which pounded the vessel on its trip across the Atlantic, broke out late in the afternoon and had gained great headway before the first SOS was sent out. The ship gave its position as 39 degrees 5 minutes north, 71 degrees 26 minutes west, and followed those precise figures with the stirring message:

"Make all speed. We are afire." The Washington Maru, Norfolk bound from Boston, picked up the distress cry from its position 70 miles away and set out at full speed for the Hatteras. The Cabo Torres, one day out from New York for Lisbon, put about and made for the burning vessel. The liner President Roosevelt, 10 sailing hours away, changed its course, and freighters, coast guard cutters and destroyers joined the life saving race.

The Hatteras sent out its SOS and its position over and over for half an hour. Then, suddenly, it stopped and no further messages came for two hours.

Meanwhile, it was learned later, the Cabo Torres had reached the burning ship and picked up one life boat with 13 men aboard. The Torres' radio was working poorly and it could not make itself heard to announce the rescue. At 7:20, however, the Washington Maru was near enough to pick up the faint sounds of the Torres' wireless, and relayed news of the rescue of the 13.

Shortly thereafter, however, the Washington reached the position last given by the Hatteras, and reported it found nothing. Renewed fears were felt until an hour and a half later when the Cabo Torres was picked up again, announcing two more life boats, holding the rest of the crew, had been found, that it was standing by waiting for daylight to attempt salvage.

The chase for the burning ship was called off then and the dozen ships headed for the scene, resumed their courses.

TAMATIVE, CHIEF PORT, LIES IN RUINS TODAY

HARBORSIDE BUILDINGS AND
SMALL CRAFT ARE SMASHED

WIRELESS STATION WAS RIPPED
APART BY FORCE OF THE WIND

Capetown, South Africa, March 5. — (UP) — Tamative, principal port on the Indian ocean island of Madagascar, lay partly in ruins today, wireless dispatches said, as a result of a cyclone which smashed harborside buildings and small craft. Wireless estimates put the list of dead or injured at 500.

The pier and customs sheds and offices were smashed. The wireless station was ripped apart by the wind which reached its maximum force on Tuesday.

Portents of the storm caused the steamer Selstan, (a British vessel from Hongkong) to put to sea Sunday and nothing had been heard from her up to today.

Tamative is on the east coast of Madagascar.

London, March 5. — Lloyd's today received a wireless message from the steamer General Du Chesne by way of Mauritius, saying that the harbor at Tamative, Madagascar, had been wrecked by a cyclone. The steamers Catinat, Saint Aenne and Amanda and the sailing ships Elizabeth and Beriziky were destroyed, according to the message.

The Du Chesne's skipper said it was expected that there had been some loss of life.

Capetown, South Africa, March 5. — Unconfirmed wireless reports from Madagascar today said there had been several hundred casualties during a cyclone there.

The first report of the disaster came from Mauritius. It said 500 persons had been killed or injured and that the town of Tamative on the east coast of Madagascar had been devastated by the cyclone on Tuesday.

A subsequent, and so far unconfirmed, wireless message from Madagascar said several hundred persons had been killed.

The French steamers Ville De Marselles and Catinat were reported to have been driven ashore. The Union Castle steamer Gaika wirelessed that she had encountered a terrific storm.

Madagascar is a large island and French colony in the Indian ocean off the east coast of Africa. Its area is approximately 230,000 square miles. Tamative is Madagascar's most important seaport and for a time was the capital of the colony. It is on the east coast.

The Ville De Marselles is a vessel of 4,788 tons, home port Havre. The Gaika, home port Southampton, is a vessel of 6,392 tons. The Catinat is from Nantes, France, and is of 7,113 tons.

BRIG GEN. BUTLER SAILS FOR SHANGHAI

Washington, March 5. — (UP) — Brigadier General Smedley Butler, U. S. M. C., today sailed from San Francisco on the President Pierce for Shanghai, to take up command of the marine expeditionary force there, according to navy department advices.

Butler will arrive in China in about three weeks.

STEAMER AFIRE 600 MILES FROM LOS ANGELES

San Francisco, March 5. — (UP) — The steamer Hollywood of the McCormick line is afire 600 miles south of Los Angeles, according to wireless advices to the Marine exchange here today.

The blaze is raging in the No. 3 hold and shelter deck of the vessel, but is expected to be confined to these quarters.

The teamer Utacarbon is standing by to give aid if needed.

The Hollywood is bound from Balboa to coast ports.

POLICE FIND THEM AT WORK IN CHICAGO LOOP

SIX WORKING WITH THE FOUR
CAPTURED ESCAPE
POLICE

MEN ARRESTED ARE ALLEGEDLY
AMONG CITY'S MOST NOTOR-
IOUS BOOTLEGGERS

Chicago, March 5. — (UP) — Four men who are said to have syphoned more than $150,000 worth of pre-war whiskey from a government bonded warehouse within the past two days were under arrest here today after police discovered them at work in a territory just outside the Chicago loop district.

Six men who were working with the four men captured, escaped.

The men arrested are allegedly among Chicago's most notorious bootleggers. They are: William "Klondike" O'Donnell, who was said to have been with Assistant District Attorney William McCawggin when he was shot in Cicero last spring; James "Fur" Sammons, wanted in Baltimore in connection with the Sonneborn Tailoring Co. holdup, John Barry and John Davis.

The alleged bootleggers used more than a mile of hose in draining the whiskey from a fifth floor of the warehouse to a third story apartment 300 yards away. The liquor was drained through a hose which extended over a prairie and over two intervening apartment houses.

O'Donnell had rented the apartment to use as a cache for the liquor, police said. The gang had gained admittance to the warehouse by mounting to the second floor of a building next door and sawing bars in the second floor of the warehouse. Once inside, they mounted to the fifth floor where 10,000 cases and 500 barrels of the only legitimate whiskey in Chicago was stored.

The O'Donnell gang refused to surrender until every barrel in their revolvers had been emptied at the raiding party. A fifth member of the gang is believed to have been wounded in the gun battle between the attackers and the attacked.

Washington, March 5. — The barges, Armistead, Chatham, Orleans and Palmyra, cast adrift in Wednesday's northeaster, are safe, according to a message from Cape Hatteras today. This reported also that the 14 ton schooner Lorena D., reported lost in the gale, had been driven ashore near Cape Hatteras, where life-savers took off the crew.

OPEN REBELLION AGAINST SPAIN IN RIFF COUNTRY

DISTURBANCES, S A Y LONDON
NEWSPAPERS, NEAR TAN-
GIER, MOROCCO

GROUPS OF TRIBES MASSACRED
PARTY

London, March 5. — (UP) — Open rebellion against Spain has broken out again in the Rifian territory near Tangier, Morocco, dispatches to London newspapers said today.

Groups of the Beni Aros and Beni Ider tribes massacred a large Spanish working party within two miles of Tetuan, the Westminster Gazette's correspondent said.

The Daily News correspondent, apparently reporting the same incident, said Djebala tribesmen had ambushed several Spaniards within a mile of Tetuan.

Heavy artillery fire was audible all day yesterday along the Tangier-Tetuan route, the dispatch added.

Well armed tribes are prepared to attack other Spanish posts within a few days, the correspondent learned from native couriers from Djebel Habid, 15 miles south of the Tangier zone.

2 BOILERS EXPLODE; ONE MAN KILLED AND ONE BADLY INJURED

Beaverfalls, Pa., March 5. — (UP) — One man was killed and another injured when two boilers of the Firestone Clay company exploded here today.

Paul Pestla, assistant factory foreman, was struck by flying metal and severely burned. He was almost instantly killed.

C. Melatwich, 42, was burned by escaping steam.

40 SEAMEN FORCED TO TAKE TO LIFEBOATS

SPANISH LINE FREIGHTER WAS BURNED 130 MILES FROM
NEW YORK

PICKED UP BY SISTER SHIP OF
SAME FREIGHTER
LINE

New York, March 5. — (UP) — Forty seamen, forced to take to life boats when the Spanish Ybana line freighter Cabo Hatteras burned 130 miles out of New York, were safe today aboard the Cabo Torres, of the same line, which was standing by in hopes of salvaging the bulk of the Hatteras after the fire burned out.

Eleven ships heard the Cabo Hatteras' SOS late yesterday and started to aid the vessel, which was between Fire Island and Montauk Point. The Cabo Torres arrived first, followed soon after by the Japanese Washington Maru. The others were notified of the rescue and returned to their courses.

For a time it was feared the crew of the Hatteras had been lost. Its wireless failed at 5:15 p. m., and no further word was received until 7:30 when news came that the crew, in three life boats, had been taken aboard the Torres.

The Hatteras' hull is of steel, and it was believed it could be salvaged. The superstructure was destroyed, messages from the Torres indicated.

The Cabo Hatteras was inbound from the Mediterranean with a cargo of general merchandise.

Fire, possibly due to tangled wires resulting from the heavy seas which pounded the vessel on its trip across the Atlantic, broke out late in the afternoon and had gained great headway before the first SOS was sent out. The ship gave its position as 39 degrees 5 minutes north, 71 degrees 26 minutes west, and followed those precise figures with the stirring message:

"Make all speed. We are afire."

The Washington Maru, Norfolk bound from Boston, picked up the distress cry from its position 70 miles away and set out at full speed for the Hatteras. The Cabo Torres, one day out from New York for Lisbon, put about and made for the burning vessel. The liner President Roosevelt, 10 sailing hours away, changed its course, and freighters, coast guard cutters and destroyers joined the life saving race.

The Hatteras sent out its SOS and its position over and over for half an hour. Then, suddenly, it stopped and no further messages came for two hours.

Meanwhile, it was learned later, the Cabo Torres had reached the burning ship and picked up one life boat with 13 men aboard. The Torres' radio was working poorly and it could not make itself heard to announce the rescue. At 7:20, however, the Washington Maru was near enough to pick up the faint sounds of the Torres' wireless, and relayed news of the rescue of the 13.

Shortly thereafter, however, the Washington reached the position last given by the Hatteras, and reported it found nothing. Renewed fears were felt until an hour and a half later when the Cabo Torres was picked up again, announcing two more life boats, holding the rest of the crew, had been found, that it was standing by waiting for daylight to attempt salvage.

The chase for the burning ship was called off then and the dozen ships headed for the scene, resumed their courses.

TAMATIVE, CHIEF PORT, LIES IN RUINS TODAY

HARBORSIDE BUILDINGS AND
SMALL CRAFT ARE
SMASHED

WIRELESS STATION WAS RIPPED
WIND

Capetown, South Africa, March 5. — (UP) — Tamative, principal port on the Indian ocean island of Madagascar, lay partly in ruins today, wireless dispatches said, as a result of a cyclone which smashed harborside buildings and small craft. Wireless estimates put the list of dead or injured at 500.

The pier and customs sheds and offices were smashed. The wireless station was ripped apart by the wind which reached its maximum force on Tuesday.

Portents of the storm caused the steamer Selstan, (a British vessel from Hongkong) to put to sea Sunday and nothing had been heard from her up to today.

Tamative is on the east coast of Madagascar.

London, March 5. — Lloyd's today received a wireless message from the steamer General Du Chesne by way of Mauritius, saying that the harbor at Tamative, Madagascar, had been wrecked by a cyclone. The steamers Catinat, Saint Aenne and Amanda and the sailing ships Elizabeth and Berizky were destroyed, according to the message.

The Du Chesne's skipper said it was expected that there had been some loss of life.

Capetown, South Africa, March 5. — Unconfirmed wireless reports from Madagascar today said there had been several hundred casualties during a cyclone there.

The first report of the disaster came from Mauritius. It said 500 persons had been killed or injured and that the town of Tamative on the east coast of Madagascar had been devastated by the cyclone on Tuesday.

A subsequent, and so far unconfirmed, wireless message from Madagascar said several hundred persons had been killed.

The French steamers Ville De Marselles and Catinat were reported to have been driven ashore. The Union Castle steamer Gaika wireless said she had encountered a terrific storm.

Madagascar is a large island and French colony in the Indian ocean off the east coast of Africa. Its area is approximately 230,000 square miles. Tamative is Madagascar's most important seaport and for a time was the capital of the colony. It is on the east coast.

The Ville De Marselles is a vessel of 4,788 tons, home port Havre. The Gaika, home port Southampton, is a vessel of 6,392 tons. The Catinat is from Nantes, France, and is of 7,113 tons.

BRIG GEN. BUTLER SAILS FOR SHANGHAI

Washington, March 5. — (UP) — Brigadier General Smedley Butler, U. S. M. C., today sailed from San Francisco on the President Pierce for Shanghai, to take up command of the marine expeditionary force there, according to navy department advices. Butler will arrive in China in about three weeks.

STEAMER AFIRE 600 MILES FROM LOS ANGELES

San Francisco, March 5. — (UP) — The steamer Hollywood of the McCormick line is afire 600 miles south of Los Angeles, according to wireless advices to the Marine exchange here today.

The blaze is raging in the No. 3 hold and shelter deck of the vessel, but is expected to be confined to these quarters.

The teamer Utacarbon is standing by to give aid if needed. The Hollywood is bound from Balboa to coast ports.

HEDDA HOYT TELLS—ABOUT ENSEMBLES

By HEDDA HOYT

New York, March 5.—(UP)—Ensemble ideas in dress have become so popular with the well-dressed woman that many gown houses are designing hats to match their gowns. New in Paris at present are hats of chiffon made in turban effect. There is no attempt at transparency, however, since the idea is to conform the sheer material to the semi-tailored millinery effects of today.

Among the Spring coat collections are many mint green models trimmed in ombre lapin or red fox fur. Shaggy furs are used on coats of wrap-around type, the fur extending down the fronts to the hem. Most of the early Spring coats use fur trimming of some description. Straight coat lines are the rule.

Flowered chiffon frocks made with side drapery and using shaggy shoulder corsages of self-material are included among the recent afternoon gown collections. Patterns this season consist of small flowers or small geometrical designs.

Snakeskin in a mottled tannish shade is used in banding effect to trim collars, belts and pockets of black and tan cashmere coats. Handbags act as harmonious snakeskin accessories.

There will be quite a vogue for gray furs this Spring. Gray-dyed ermine is a new addition to the fur world. Mole, squirrel and gray caracul are also popular.

Spanish shawls are still considered the most effective evening wraps for Southern resort wear. Beautifully embroidered and deeply fringed, they are being worn over pastel chiffon frocks which have shadings repeated in the shawls.

The cape-coat has been entirely neglected for Spring. Except in instances of raincoats we see none of them. For young girls, caped raincoats without sleeves are designed for sports wear.

MINNESOTA HAS OVER 14 MILLION IN ITS COFFERS

St. Paul, March 5.—(UP)—Minnesota today had $14,211,511.91 in its coffers, according to Julius Schmah, state treasurer.

The state was richer today than at any time in its career, according to Schmah, except for a short time in 1925 when the treasury held slightly more than $15,000,000.

Schmah predicted that more than $16,000,000 would be deposited in the treasury at the end of the fiscal year, June 30. Receipts at that time from county tax payments, insurance company fees and iron ore royalty tax payments, are expected to put the state at the peak of its riches.

A celebrated Welsh basso profundo, after years of fame, returned to his native village in the wilds of Cardiganshire. A charity concert was arranged, and the world-famous virtuoso was billed to sing "The Village Blacksmith." Just before the concert a local supporter came around to the artist's dressing room.

The visitor approached the artist and said: "I understand that you are going to sing a song, 'The Village Blacksmith.' Well, I'm telling you now that I am the village blacksmith and I want to say that if by any chance you get an encore, will you shove in an extra verse to say that I also let out bikes on 'fire at sixpence an hour'?"—"Taffy Tales From Welsh Wales."

HEDDA HOYT TELLS—ABOUT ENSEMBLES

By HEDDA HOYT

New York, March 5.—(UP)—Ensemble ideas in dress have become so popular with the well-dressed woman that many gown houses are designing hats to match their gowns. New in Paris at present are hats of chiffon made in turban effect. There is no attempt at transparency, however, since the idea is to conform the sheer material to the semi-tailored millinery effects of today.

Among the Spring coat collections are many mint green models trimmed in ombre lapin or red fox fur. Shaggy furs are used on coats of wrap-around type, the fur extending down the fronts to the hem. Most of the early Spring coats use fur trimming of some description. Straight coat lines are the rule.

Flowered chiffon frocks made with side drapery and using shaggy shoulder corsages of self-material are included among the recent afternoon gown collections. Patterns this season consist of small flowers or small geometrical designs.

Snakeskin in a mottled tannish shade is used in banding effect to trim collars, belts and pockets of black and tan cashmere coats. Handbags act as harmonious snakeskin accessories.

There will be quite a vogue for gray furs this Spring. Gray-dyed ermine is a new addition to the fur world. Mole, squirrel and gray caracul are also popular.

Spanish shawls are still considered the most effective evening wraps for Southern resort wear. Beautifully embroidered and deeply fringed, they are being worn over pastel chiffon frocks which have shadings repeated in the shawls.

The cape-coat has been entirely neglected for Spring. Except in instances of raincoats we see none of them. For young girls, caped raincoats without sleeves are designed for sports wear.

SAFE CRACKERS ENTER SHEVLIN HALL, MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis, Minn., March 5.—(UP)—Safe crackers entered Shevlin Hall, women's dormitory at the University of Minnesota today and made away with $40 from a small safe.

Shevlin Hall has been robbed three times this year, according to university officials. Clothing was taken in the two previous raids.

Petty robberies have been reported a dozen times at the school since the Christmas vacation.

FORMER CASHIER RETURNED FROM SEATTLE, WASH.

Alexandria, Minn., March 5.—(UP)—O. J. Wollan, former cashier of the closed Evansville State Bank, under indictment on embezzlement charges, today had been returned from Seattle, Wash., where he went to live shortly after the closing of the bank.

Sheriff Emil Lundeen brought back the former cashier for trial following the recently returned grand jury indictment.

Embezzlement charges grow out of failure of the bank to account for $2,500 payments on a mortgage contract.

LOWDEN FOR PRESIDENT CLUB IS INCORPORATED

Albany, N. Y., March 5.—(UP)—The Lowden-for-President association of New York has been incorporated by the secretary of state, to further the interests of Frank O. Lowden, republican, of Illinois, as a presidential nominee.

The charter says the organization is to "do any and all things necessary to advocate, encourage, promote.

MINNESOTA HAS OVER 14 MILLION IN ITS COFFERS

St. Paul, March 5.—(UP)—Minnesota today had $14,211,511.91 in its coffers, according to Julius Schmahl, state treasurer.

The state was richer today than at any time in its career, according to Schmahl, except for a short time in 1925 when the treasury held slightly more than $15,000,000.

Schmahl predicted that more than $16,000,000 would be deposited in the treasury at the end of the fiscal year, June 30. Receipts at that time from county tax payments, insurance company fees and iron ore royalty tax payments, are expected to put the state at the peak of its riches.

Charles A. Dushek, Formerly of Brainerd, Dies at Morris

Morris, Minn., March 5.—(UP)—Charles A. Dushek, 62, prominent civic worker and lodgeman, who came here from Brainerd in 1891, was dead at his home in Morris today.

Dushek, who had been proprietor of a hotel here for many years, held numerous public offices in the 26 years he lived here. He served five years on the school board, one as president, was a member of the library board for a number of years and was a member of the city commission.

Born in Bohemia, June 15, 1865, Dushek came to America in his youth. He is survived by his wife, five daughters and one son.

Strictly Business

A celebrated Welsh basso profundo, after years of fame, returned to his native village in the wilds of Cardiganshire. A charity concert was arranged, and the world famous virtuoso was billed to sing "The Village Blacksmith." Just before the concert a local supporter came around to the artist's dressing room.

The visitor approached the artist and said: "I understand that you are going to sing a song, 'The Village Blacksmith.' Well, I'm telling you now that I am the village blacksmith and I want to say that if by any chance you get an encore, will you shove in an extra verse to say that I also let out bikes on fire at sixpence an hour?"—"Taffy Tales From Welsh Wales."

Good Reading

Good literature has a charm incomparable, but it has also a power immeasurable in the forming or transforming of a nation as of an individual character. The people that have the cleanest, healthiest literature will become the cleanest and healthiest people. A good thought wisely expressed and thoughtfully applied is priceless for its endurance. Throw it on the winds and it will find its bourn; sink it in the deepest water and it will reach its haven; for the noblest thoughts are the breath of Almightiness, and remain imperishable to the end of time and beyond.—Exchange.

TWELVE MEN TO SOLVE MYSTERIES OF MAN'S MIND

COMPRISE JURY IN THE CASE OF
HAROLD J. CROARKIN,
CHICAGO

26-YEAR-OLD "GOOF" WHO BEAT
TO DEATH 6-YEAR-OLD BOY

By BERT M. DENBY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, March 5.—Twelve men from the ordinary walks of life are to be called upon to solve mysteries of a disordered mind—mysteries that have baffled medical science through the ages.

The twelve men who comprise the jury in the murder trial of Harold J. Croarkin, the 26-year-old "goof" who beat to death 6-year-old Walter Schmitt, must determine whether Croarkin, even though queer, suffered any remorse for his crime.

Croarkin's defense is being based upon testimony of his former schoolmates that he was always strange, never bright, and always known in the neighborhood as "The Goof." Psychiatrists engaged by the defense state that his mind is that of a small child. He is, these experts assert, a "borderline case"—meaning that he is so weak mentally that he is almost insane.

Not the Curate's Fault

A clergyman, called away suddenly and unable to officiate at the services in his church, entrusted his new curate with the duty. On his return home he asked his wife what she thought of the curate's sermon.

"The poorest I ever heard," she declared, "nothing in it at all."

Later in the day the clergyman, meeting his curate, asked him how he had got on.

"Splendidly, sir," replied the curate. "I didn't have time to prepare anything myself, so I preached one of your sermons."—London Answers.

Hard to Stop Legend Once Started on Way

It is rather interesting to watch a legend in the course of growth, remarks the Manchester Guardian and cites the case of the ancient chalice which was recently found and which after a hectic newspaper career is now so far advanced that it is honored by some as the cup that served the Lord at the Last Supper. It was a similar jumping at conclusions which involved medieval legend makers in some hopeless tangles, Pierre Van Pasen comments, in the Atlanta Constitution. The classical case is that of the Eleven Thousand Virgins of Cologne. Diggings in the Twelfth century brought to light a big collection of human bones. An ecstatic woman proclaimed them at once to be the remains of the Eleven Thousand martyrs. Further search showed the bones of men were among the piles. The ecstatic lady was not put out. She declared at once that certain ecclesiastics had been put to death with the virgins. Worse followed. The bones of children were found. Were the seeds defeated? By no means. Entire families had been put to death with the 11,000, they said. Modern research made an end to the whole farce by establishing the fact that the bones were those of the first Roman colonists in Cologne and that they had been buried in a catacomban cemetery.

Mental State Depends Much on Environment

In order permanently to cure a child of nervousness it is necessary to remove the underlying cause, not merely to alleviate the distressing symptoms, declares Dr. Frank Howard Richardson in Hygeia Magazine. This will probably involve some change in the environment, for it is recognized that environmental influences affect a child so much that they will greatly modify any mental condition, no matter how bad.

While this is encouraging, there will be plenty of difficulty in many cases. If a companion, a teacher, a brother or a sister is at the bottom of the nervous condition, the change may easily be made. However, in many cases the child's nervousness is really due to a jealous or tyrannical father or to a weak, pampering mother. It is almost hopeless to alter the environment resulting from such parental disturbances.

In all cases it is up to the parents to provide the proper atmosphere and environment for their children's development. Otherwise no amount of treatment by physician or psychiatrist will be of any avail.

Feminine Philosophy

It is Madame de Staël who loves to quote that inimitable definition of Schelling, "architecture is frozen music." It is she, the most famous woman of her century, who finds that "for women glory is only a brilliant mourning worn for happiness," and that "everything which does not touch one's heart leaves one's life free."

On a profounder subject she says: "The mystery of existence is the connection between our sins and our sorrows. I have never done a wrong which has not been the cause of a misfortune" and, "One must take care, if one can, that the decline of this life be the youth of the next. To forget self without ceasing to be interested in others gives the soul something of the divine."—From "The Women of the Salons," by S. G. Tallentyre.

Her Version

A child, who is in the first grade at school, returned home one evening, and, at the dinner table, repeated a riddle that she had heard at school that day.

"If a man were locked up in a house for two weeks, and there was no food in the house, what would he eat?" After a few minutes of unsuccessful attempts to guess the answer, the members of the family "gave up" and requested the solution.

"Why, he would eat the raisins on the calendar and drink the milk from the bed," replied the child. The answer had been: "The dates on the calendar and water from the springs in the bed."

Taken at His Word

One day while riding on a crowded street car I noticed a woman standing in the throng struggling with many bundles and a baby. Thinking of being of some assistance, I inquired, "Can I relieve you of some of your bundles?" To my surprise, she handed me the baby.

My bachelor dignity was already at the zero point, but when I noticed a group of giggling girls who were students in my class at the city high school my mortification was complete. I assure you my embarrassment did not end with the incident.—E. N. A. B., in Chicago Tribune.

New Northern Transcontinental Telephone Line Traverses Prairies and Rugged Mountain Tops

A wide variety of country, some of it level prairie and some of it rugged, mountainous and tree covered, is crossed by the new northern transcontinental long distance telephone line. The upper picture shows the line following the beautiful Yellowstone river through Montana. The line follows the river for 350 miles. The left middle picture is a close-up of the line where it crosses Blawie Pass in the Cascade mountains in Washington. The altitude at that point is 4,071 feet. The right middle picture shows the line crossing the continental divide at McDonald Pass of the Rocky mountains in Montana. Here the line reaches an altitude of 6,355 feet. The lower picture shows the line near Bismarck, North Dakota.

Three separate long distance telephone lines now span the nation, connecting the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. The newest of these, which takes the northern route from Chicago to Seattle, through Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho and Washington, was opened for service on January 17. The original transcontinental telephone line which made it possible to talk from Boston through New York to San Francisco for the first time in history, was placed in service on January 25, 1915.

This first transcontinental line took a route through what might be called the middle of the United States. From New York it passes through Chicago and enters the territory of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company at Davenport on the east, and runs across Iowa through Des Moines. In Nebraska it goes through Omaha, Grand Island, North Platte and through a number of towns in between. From Nebraska the line runs to Denver and westward.

A southern transcontinental line was opened in December, 1923. This line passes through New Orleans and on through Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, terminating at Los Angeles.

Some of the cities traversed by the new northern transcontinental line are Minneapolis, St. Cloud, Sauk Center, in Minnesota, and Fargo, Jamestown, Bismarck and Dickinson in North Dakota. This new line provides a more direct and speedier route for the increasing use of long distance between points in the northwestern part of the United States and cities in the central and eastern parts of the country. From Chicago to Seattle, the line covers about 2,225 miles. The cost of building this line was about $1,600,000.

Hence, LACK OF RESULTS eliminated him as an Advertising medium long ago!

And yet, some of you merchants still are employing "Sandwich Man" methods in trying to attract the public. You rely on window signs and displays to "play to" a small passerby trade when you might be reaching thousands and prospering through the use of the

Hard to Stop Legend

Once Started on Way

It is rather interesting to watch a legend in the course of growth, remarks the Manchester Guardian and cites the case of the ancient chalice which was recently found and which after a hectic newspaper career is now so far advanced that it is honored by some as the cup that served the Lord at the Last Supper. It was a similar jumping at conclusions which involved medieval legend makers in some hopeless tangles, Pierre Van Passen comments, in the Atlanta Constitution. The classical case is that of the Eleven Thousand Virgins of Cologne. Diggings in the Twelfth century brought to light a big collection of human bones. An ecstatic woman proclaimed them at once to be the remains of the Eleven Thousand martyrs. Further search showed the bones of men were among the piles. The ecstatic lady was not put out. She declared at once that certain ecclesiastical ties had been put to death with the virgins. Worse followed. The bones of children were found. Were the seers defeated? By no means. Entire families had been put to death with the 11,000, they said. Modern research made an end to the whole farce by establishing the fact that the bones were those of the first Roman colonists in Cologne and that they had been buried in a catacomb cemetery.

Mental State Depends

Much on Environment

In order permanently to cure a child of nervousness it is necessary to remove the underlying cause, not merely to alleviate the distressing symptoms, declares Dr. Frank Howard Richardson in Hygeia Magazine. This will probably involve some change in the environment, for it is recognized that environmental influences affect a child so much that they will greatly modify any mental condition, no matter how bad.

While this is encouraging, there will be plenty of difficulty in many cases. If a companion, a teacher, a brother or a sister is at the bottom of the nervous condition, the change may easily be made. However, in many cases the child's nervousness is really due to a jealous or tyrannical father or to a weak, pampering mother. It is almost hopeless to alter the environment resulting from such parental disturbances.

In all cases it is up to the parents to provide the proper atmosphere and environment for their children's development.

Otherwise no amount of treatment by physician or psychiatrist will be of any avail.

Feminine Philosophy

It is Mmme. de Staël who loves to quote that inimitable definition of Schelling, "architecture is frozen music." It is she, the most famous woman of her century, who finds that "for women glory is only a brilliant mourning worn for happiness," and that "everything which does not touch one's heart leaves one's life free."

On a profounder subject she says: "The mystery of existence is the connection between our sins and our sorrows. I have never done a wrong which has not been the cause of a misfortune;" and, "One must take care, if one can, that the decline of this life be the youth of the next. To forget self without ceasing to be interested in others gives the soul something of the divine."—From "The Women of the Salons," by S. G. Tallentyre.

Her Version

A child, who is in the first grade at school, returned home one evening, and, at the dinner table, repeated a riddle that she had heard at school that day.

"If a man were locked up in a house for two weeks, and there was no food in the house, what would he eat?" After a few minutes of unsuccessful attempts to guess the answer, the members of the family "gave up" and requested the solution.

"Why, he would eat the raisins on the calendar and drink the milk from the bed," replied the child. The answer had been: "The dates on the calendar and water from the springs in the bed."

Taken at His Word

One day while riding on a crowded street car I noticed a woman standing in the throng struggling with many bundles and a baby. Thinking of being of some assistance, I inquired, "Can't I relieve you of some of your bundles?" To my surprise, she handed me the baby.

My bachelor dignity was already at the zero point, but when I noticed a group of giggling girls who were students in my class at the city high school my mortification was complete. I assure you my embarrassment did not end with the incident.—E. N. A. B., in Chicago Tribune.

New Northern Transcontinental Telephone Line Traverses Prairies and Rugged Mountain Tops

A wide variety of country, some of it level prairie and some of it rugged, mountainous and tree covered, is crossed by the new northern transcontinental long distance telephone line. The upper picture shows the line following the beautiful Yellowstone river through Montana. The line follows the river for 360 miles. The left middle picture is a close-up of the line where it crosses Elwetti Pass in the Cascade mountains in Washington. The altitude at that point is 4,971 feet. The right middle picture shows the line crossing the continental divide at McDonald Pass of the Rocky mountains in Montana. Here the line reaches an altitude of 6,399 feet. The lower picture shows the line near Bismarck, North Dakota.

Three separate long distance telephone lines now span the nation, connecting the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. The newest of these, which takes the northern route from Chicago to Seattle, through Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho and Washington, was opened for service on January 17. The original transcontinental telephone line which made it possible to talk from Boston through New York to San Francisco for the first time in history, was placed in service on January 25, 1915.

This first transcontinental line took a route through what might be called the middle of the United States. From New York it passes through Chicago and enters the territory of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company at Davenport on the east, and runs across Iowa through Des Moines. In Nebraska it goes through Omaha, Grand Island, North Platte and through a number of towns in between. From Nebraska the line runs to Denver and westward.

A southern transcontinental line was opened in December, 1923. This line passes through New Orleans and on through Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, terminating at Los Angeles.

Some of the cities traversed by the new northern transcontinental line are Minneapolis, St. Cloud, Sauk Center, in Minnesota, and Fargo, Jamestown, Bismarck and Dickinson in North Dakota. This new line provides a more direct and speedier route for the increasing use of long distance between points in the northwestern part of the United States and cities in the central and eastern parts of the country. From Chicago to Seattle, the line covers about 2,225 miles. The cost of building this line was about $1,000,000.

Hence, LACK OF RESULTS eliminated him as an Advertising medium long ago!

And yet, some of you merchants still are employing "Sandwich Man" methods in trying to attract the public. You rely on window signs and displays to "play to" a small passerby trade when you might be reaching thousands and prospering through the use of the

ACTIVE TOURIST SEASON ANTICIPATED

A HEALTHY and to be desired demand for lake shore camp sites and building lots is to be expected this year judging from all available signs, says the Bemidji Daily Pioneer.

State Auditor Chase also predicts a large demand for the sites rented annually by the state to tourists.

In 1923, Mr. Chase said, the legislature set aside lake fronts and the shores of meandering rivers suitable for cottage and camp sites for leasing to vacationers. The legislature provided that the leases should not be made for commercial purposes.

As a result, each year a larger number of people have availed themselves of the opportunity of obtaining a site at a reasonable price. If they did not like it they need not keep it another year—if they did the state reserved for them the first right to lease it for the following year.

Last year the size of the state's business in this line is indicated by the total receipt of $11,748 for leases—although most of them amount to $12 for the season. That is the fixed rental for the sites although tracts passing a fixed site cost more.

A list of sites available for next summer is being prepared by Mr. Chase and will be distributed during the next three months. With many applications made already he anticipates the year's demand will greatly surpass all others.

SEEKS TO CHECK GUN TOTING

A STEP has been taken by Congress to check the evil of "gun toting" by criminals. The Miller bill, just passed by Congress and signed by President Coolidge, bars revolvers, pistols and other concealed weapons from the United States mails.

The bill does away with the "mail order" evil which made it an easy thing for a criminal to gain a gun and ammunition. The bill permits only certain named officers to secure weapons by mail upon complying with the postmaster general's regulations.

THE Aitkin Independent Age declares the best game on Thursday's tournament program was played in the evening between Brainerd and Staples. In the first half of this game Staples took the lead and the half ended 7 to 5 in their favor. In the second session Brainerd rallied and with a flash of speed, overwhelmed their opponents and ended the game on the long end of a 17 to 11 score. It was a hard fought game and from the spectators' viewpoint was a thriller.

STEALING a few minutes from her domestic duties, says the Baudette Region, a housewife has figured out that she washes three acres of dishes in a year, prepares 3,000 meals and sweeps 150 acres of floor space. The "leisure" time between these tasks was filled in with cooking, sewing, housecleaning and listening to her husband complain about being overworked.

UNDER date of March 1 the Weekly Weather and Crop Bulletin of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, gives this review of Minnesota: "Fields generally bare over southern half of state. Freezing and thawing unfavorable for winter grains. Farmers cleaning seed and preparing for spring work. Feed becoming scarce. Main highways open."

ACCORDING to the Motley Mercury the recent basketball game between Motley and Brainerd girls was of the strenuous kind. The Mercury says "two Motley players returned with blacked eyes and severe bruises, one leaving the floor during the progress of the game to treat a bleeding nose."

ANNOUNCEMENT is made by the village of Onamia that it is entirely out of debt and has a balance in its treasury. Instead of paying debts and interest in the future, the village tax receipts may be applied on betterments.

ONE reason more young people don't say at home nights is because they're afraid to be alone in the house, says the Pine River Sentinel-Blaze.

MINNESOTA is fifteenth in rank in mileage of concrete rural highways, according to statistics compiled by the Portland Cement Association.

THE mileage in the Minnesota trunk highway system is nearly equal to the mileage of railroad owned by the Great Northern.

IOWA has had the reputation of having the most cars per capita and the worst roads of any state in the west central region.

IT is funny at times to read the arguments in Congress. And again it's not so funny when you realize that all of us pay the bill.

A CONTRACT has been let for carrying mail between Grand Rapids and Hibbing by bus, railroad service being inadequate.

NO domestic science course is necessary to enable a girl to make a traffic jam, says the Florence Herald.

PINE RIVER this year will hold a three-day fair and the dates chosen are August 22, 23 and 24.

RESOLUTIONS, like cards of thanks, must be charged for and cannot be treated as news matter.

DISTRICT court at Aitkin has adjourned after nearly three weeks of steady work.

"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picture adaptation of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, working his way through college, finds with his chums, Freddy and Arch, an easy way to earn money—working as dancing partners, of afternoons, for rich women in a fashionable New Jersey roadhouse. Bob thinks it isn't a fit way to make a living; but, faced with eviction for unpaid rent, reluctantly goes to the roadhouse. There he sees the prettiest, sweetest girl he has ever laid eyes on. She is Sally, the cigarette girl. He hears of a mysterious Mrs. Hammond, who frequents the inn; and quarrels with his chums, who think Sally is a gold-digger, like the rest.

CHAPTER VI—Continued

As for Bob, much as he wanted to playfully mash the heads of his chums, Freddy and Arch, for their tormenting play upon words, he managed to restrain himself and merely laugh ruefully to Madame Leonine:

"Yes, that's it—I'm studying engineering in college. Learning about gold digging, and all that sort of thing."

The Madame, whose indignation at the quarrelling of the boys was allayed by the smug knowledge that in Bob she had struck a bonanza herself, indulgently permitted herself to be disarmed by the explanations. She even ventured a witticism of her own:

"I don't know much about what they can teach you in college, or how they teach it—but you'll pick up here quicker than in any classroom a practical and first hand knowledge of gold digging—as she is dig!"

So the atmosphere, the tension, were cleared again.

And so Madame Leonine, like a motherly old buzzard, shooed her baby hawks off to their foraging:

"There, Freddy—you go to Mrs. Hammond, those talking confidentially to Mrs. Hammond."

"Madame was talking confidentially to Mrs. Hammond."

Vanderweerd; she's smiling for you. And Arch, Mrs. Lady told me she wanted this dance with you. Mazie Revere has shaken her butter and egg man again in your favor for this dance, Bob. She's sure got a crush on you—and he's aching to crush you, only you're too big. Run along now!"

Dance, Dance, Dance. Shuffle, and slip, swirl and whirl, bend and slide—slide, slide! Light heads, and light feet. Lighter heads, as the moments wear on. Bobbing balloons in a synopating maze. Music. Discordant—yet strangely rhythmic; unharmonious—yet strangely tuneful. Crash, tinkle, whine, whang, faster—faster—hard breathing, perfumed perspiration, tense abandon. Passion's paradise. The dance!

Through all the madness, Bob Ward remained coolly detached—confidently impersonal. Much to the chagrin of Mazie Revere, who pressed her little body close to him; and adding to the animal fever in her blood the fuel of disappointment because she saw that he was smiling, every chance he got, toward Sally Smith, still on her patient rounds of those who sat and did their smoking with their mouths and not with their pulses. Sally's smile found Bob's, as often as Bob's found Sally's. Mazie noted that. Little enough that Mazie ever missed.

Then suddenly Mazie saw a chance to divert Bob's attention in another direction. If she could not win Bob's interest for herself, then as a loyal old friend and co-worker of Madame Leonine—with whom, indeed, she was in a sort of tacit partnership—she would sacrifice her own desires toward keeping Bob, the best bet the Palladium Inn had ever had, from wasting his obvious worth and talents on a nobody of a little cigarette girl. Indeed she would! And here was the chance, conveniently at hand.

A chance—a darn good chance—in the person of a newcomer. A newcomer whose advent seemed to send an inquisitive, curious, half-envious thrill through the crowd, ing, surging dancers. An advent that certainly deflected a galvanic

The Brainerd roller mills have closed for a month during which time the mills will be equipped with modern machinery. The old machinery not being adequate to accommodate the work, the quiet part of the season has been selected to make the improvement.

Last night's meeting of the school board was a four time winner and no session of the board has ever been held in the city that would equal it, for everyone of the members seemed to be there last night ready for the fray and come what might they would settle the difficulty which has been the source of so much of the displeasure in the schools for some time, for all time to come. There were no secret sessions, no button-holing, no whispering in each other's ears and no curbing of speech even though at times it seemed as though there should have been a public censor present. The press and everybody else was admitted last night and it was a straight hand to hand fight between the factions of the board.

What the board did finally do was to elect T. B. Hartley who is well known to all to succeed Mr. Torrens as principal of the high school and the election will receive the sanction of the entire city and this move it is thought will eradicate all further trouble.

"Wise Ben Franklin"

"I made it a rule to forbear all direct contradiction to the sentiments of others, and all positive assertions of my own," wrote Benjamin Franklin in his autobiography. "I even forbade myself the use of every word or expression in the language that imported a fixed opinion, such as certainly, undoubtedly, etc., and I adopted, instead of them, I conceive, I apprehend, or I imagine a thing to be so or so; or it so appears to me at the present. When another asserted something that I thought an error, I denied myself the pleasure of contradicting him abruptly, and of showing immediately some absurdity in his proposition; and in answering I began by observing that in certain cases or circumstances his opinion would be right, but in the present case there appeared or seemed to me some difference, etc. I soon found the advantage of this change in my manner; the conversation I engaged in went on more pleasantly. The modest way in which I proposed my opinions procured them a readier reception and less contradiction; I had less mortification when I was found to be in the wrong, and I more easily prevailed with others to give up their mistakes and join with me when I happened to be in the right."

Sally's smile found Bob's too, as often as Bob's found Sally's. Mazie noted that. Little enough that Mazie ever missed.

Then suddenly Mazie saw a chance to divert Bob's attention in another direction. If she could not win Bob's interest for herself, then as a loyal old friend and co-worker of Madame Leonine—with whom, indeed, she was in a sort of tacit partnership—she would sacrifice her own desires toward keeping Bob, the best bet the Palisado Inn had ever had, from wasting his obvious worth and talents on a nobody of a little cigarette girl. Indeed she would! And here was the chance, conveniently at hand.

A chance—a darn good chance—in the person of a newcomer. A newcomer whose advent seemed to send an inquisitive, curious, half-envious thrill through the crowd, surging dancers. An advent that certainly delivered a galvanic shock to the waiters, the attendants. To the orchestra, even, for the saxophonist suddenly seemed to put off all more enthusiastically; the drummer pounded more vigorously; the others, all and sundry, scraped and blew and whanged with greater gusto. The leader contorted and frenzied himself more signally.

All the paid help had great, wide, covetous grins; the guests, admiring ones.

Madame Leonine's rouged mask was splintered in a grin that combined the greed and the admiration, as she made a ritualistic show of greeting the newcomer and personally escorting her to the choicest table—tactfully reserved for just this visitation! The fawning maitre hovered in the personage's wake.

The dance, and the dancers, almost unconsciously slipped a measure.

It was Mazie, swinging fully into the dance again with Bob, who confirmed what Bob had guessed. She explained:

"That's Mrs. Hammond. She's famous around here. The Inn's best customer, you bet."

Mazie went on, in a rather awed voice, to whisper to Bob all the information that Freddy and Arch had previously told him. Bob looked with frank interest upon Mrs. Hammond. He saw a positively ravishing creature, in her early thirties. All the encomiums that the boys had mouthed were true—and more! They had never seen so fair and resplendent a woman—in whom nature's lavish attributes of beauty were multiplied by the breeding and slight hauteur and elegance of manner of an aristocratic lady of fashion.

A lady, too—of passion! It was there—spiritually, in the dark depths of her slightly-veiled eyes; pathologically, in the sensitive nostrils, in the full, richly mobile underlip; in the mature mould of her gloriously statuesque body; and, lastly, in that surest of all marks of sensuality—a slight, very slight swelling where the ivory of her bosom melted into the valley of her white throat; in other words, a somewhat abnormal prominence of her thyroid gland tract.

Bob was finding Mrs. Hammond a fascinating feast for eye and mind. He had neglected to glance at Sally again since the captivating newcomer had entered.

Mazie took shrewd stock of his astonishment.

"Stunning, isn't she, eh?"

Bob nodded. She was—all of that. Continuing to watch, covertly, of course, for even in roadhouse Bob still behaved carefully, the responsibility to himself for his deportment as a gentleman—he saw Mrs. Hammond's eyes sweep the room, after she had given a cursory order to the obsequious maitre, who had personally gone to superintend its execution. The Madame was talking confidentially to Mrs. Hammond—in the manner of one breaking good news. It was because of whatever the Madame was explaining, that Mrs. Hammond's eyes searched out the dancers so quickly.

Sally was hovering near Mrs. Hammond's table. Bob saw that out of the corner of his eye.

The next thing he knew Mrs. Hammond's eyes were resting full upon him—like twin searchlights of an acute and discriminating mind. A connoisseur in young man-flesh! A long, critical appraisal. Bob felt absurdly afraid. He felt as a shy young man might, who, in a nightmare, dreamed that he was in the center of Times Square of a Saturday afternoon in barefeet and pajamas.

He was uneasily provoked with himself for feeling so afraid. But try as he might he could not remain calmly impersonal, unaffected, under that ardent inspection. He was too young, too inexperienced in the ways of women and life.

Mrs. Hammond seemed to appreciatively deduct this last; for she suddenly smiled, with direct interest, upon Bob, and said a few genial words to the pleased Madame Leonine, who nodded.

This byplay, which he was by no means sophisticated enough to fully understand, upset Bob. Made him so nervous he trod upon Mazie's foot. But Mazie, knowing the wherefor, did not wax wroth. Instead, she grinned, like an overwise Cheshire cat.

"Mr. Football Hero, if Mrs. Hammond falls for you—you're jake! She hasn't met anyone here yet that she liked—for more than two dances. Maybe you're just the Big Boy to fill the bill. Looks so, anyhow, from the way she's lamping you, and smiling; and from the way old Leo is smirking."

Bob was dreadfully fussed. He stuttered: "Oh, you're all wrong if you think she's interested in me, or going to be."

"No I ain't! If she asks to meet you, make up to her strong, Big Boy. She's got the prettiest apartment in New York waiting for the boy whom she falls for. So strut your stuff if you get the chance—and you will!"

not being adequate to accommodate the work, the quiet part of the season has been selected to make the improvement.

Last night's meeting of the school board was a four time winner and no session of the board has ever been held in the city that would equal it, for everyone of the members seemed to be there last night ready for the fray and come what might they would settle the difficulty which has been the source of so much of the displeasure in the schools for some time, for all time to come. There were no secret sessions, no button-holding, no whispering in each other's ears and no curbing of speech even though at times it seemed as though there should have been a public censor present. The press and everybody else was admitted last night and it was a straight hand to hand fight between the factions of the board.

What the board did finally do was to elect T. B. Hartley who is well known to all to succeed Mr. Torrens as principal of the high school and the election will receive the sanction of the entire city and this move it is thought will eradicate all further trouble.

Well Was He Called "Wise Ben Franklin"

"I made it a rule to forbear all direct contradiction to the sentiments of others, and all positive assertions of my own," wrote Benjamin Franklin in his autobiography. "I even forbade myself the use of every word or expression in the language that imported a fixed opinion, such as certainly, undoubtedly, etc., and I adopted, instead of them, I conceive, I apprehend, or I imagine a thing to be so or so; or it so appears to me at the present. When another asserted something that I thought an error, I denied myself the pleasure of contradicting him abruptly, and of showing immediately some absurdity in his proposition; and in answering I began by observing that in certain cases or circumstances his opinion would be right, but in the present case there appeared or seemed to me some difference, etc. I soon found the advantage of this change in my manner; the conversation I engaged in went on more pleasantly. The modest way in which I proposed my opinions procured them a readier reception and less contradiction; I had less mortification when I was found to be in the wrong, and I more easily prevailed with others to give up their mistakes and join with me when I happened to be in the right."

Mother-in-Law Gives Voice to Reflections

"I thought for a while that Harold was going to get out to the golf course alone, but just as he was leaving Minnie's new trousers were delivered."

"Lamech and I lived happily together many years, but he never played a game of any kind after we were married except once. We went to the volunteer fireman's picnic and he played baseball for two or more minutes. He was laid up four days."

"Minnie's husband works harder at his play than he does his job. Lamech used to watch the weather signs to keep from losing his crops. Many's the time his rheumatic knee has given him warning to get the hay in off the south forty. In the spring and summer Harold reads the forecasts to see if the weather is likely to be bad enough to make him go to the office."

"Of course, Minnie makes him take his recreations seriously. I've noticed a woman who can wear sport clothes usually advocates golf for her husband. But if Minnie isn't any better swinging a club than she is a broom it is a waste of good all-wool cloth to put her on the links."—Exchange.

BRAINERD DISPATCH

BRAINERD IN 2nd TOURNAMENT VICTORY

LOCALS WIN

OVER L. F. BY
SCORE OF 14-11

LARGE GROUP OF BRAINERD FANS SEE THRILLING GAME

BRAINERD HIGH NOW ENTERS THE FINALS TONIGHT

"BEAT CROSBY-IRONTON!"

Through coaches, chartered buses, cars, filled with eager fans returning home from a most thrilling evening of tournament games, reverberated these golden words as had the words, "Beat Little Falls," echoed by the fans yesterday.

And beat Little Falls they certainly did. The Brainerd high school basketball quint is now in the finals for the championship of the 11th district by virtue of its victory last evening over Little Falls in the semi-finals by the score of 14 to 11.

It was a hard fought battle similar in a way, although even more exciting considering the prize to be fought for, to the games in the past when Little Falls and Brainerd met to settle disputes on basketball supremacy.

Scintillating with first rate basketball throughout every minute of the game, three points separated the teams from even up last evening. Close to 2,000 fans packed that Altin Armory last evening, wild fans, nervous ones, some with pitiful looks on their faces as they watched the score board gradually changing, and others exultant with a look of gratefulness upon their countenances for the boys from Brainerd out on the court as they fought every inch of the way, never giving up hope, and then coming out victorious. Oh, boy, what a grand and glorious feeling as the time-keepers' whistle sounded the climax of the game.

Never before in the annals of basketball in the district have the fans been so loyal as in the present tournament. The Altin floor is well adapted to real basketball. It enables the players to display their real wares, gives the fans an excellent opportunity of witnessing the games, that is if one comes early and secures a seat. The gallery was packed fifteen minutes before the game started. Late comers were obliged to stand or spread their coats right up to the court lines to obtain a good view. Was it worth it? There's no question about the answer. It certainly was.

Brainerd today is lauding the playing of the team last evening and many silent prayers are being expressed for their welfare in tonight's battle with Crosby for the championship.

For Brainerd meets Crosby tonight, Crosby also was victorious last evening in going one notch higher than the semi-finals by defeating the Altin quint by the score of 21 to 15. It also was a thrilling game and only up till the last few minutes was the outcome of the game certain. Altin fought a game that is worthy of creditable mention.

In order to beat Crosby tonight, the Brainerd team must play at their top notch speed for the entire game. They must not flinch for a single minute, for Crosby has a certain trait about their playing that, once given a break, they are certain of baskets.

Fitzharris and Guin were the only field goal scorers for the locals, Fitz sinking three and Guin two. Little Falls came through with but three cagers, Terri, Bolander and Hall making one apiece.

The game was characterized by numerous fouls, Lowe being put out in the last quarter for four personal fouls. Barnes was placed in as a substitute.

The teams lined up as follows: Brainerd—Fitzharris and Orth, forwards; Guin, center; Derocher and Lowe, guards. Subs—Wise and Barnes.

Little Falls—Terri, Gierok, forwards; Bolander, center; Keeler, Hall, guards. Sub—Leiners.

Scoring: Field goals—Fitzharris 3, Guin 2, Terri 1, Bolander 1, Hall 1. Free throws made—Fitzharris 2, Lowe 2, Gierok 1, Hall 4.

This afternoon Little Falls and Altin by virtue of their defeats in the semi-finals played a consolation game.

Favorites Prove Victorious

Nearly every favorite doped to win in the various districts of Minnesota has found its way to the championship clash. Eleven districts have played their opening rounds, four of which reached their semi-finals last night.

Gilbert, of the seventh district, runner-up in the state tournament last year, won its opening game by defeating Virginia in a fast game, 20-18. Gilbert has only one letter man back from last year's squad and still has some hard competition remaining in the district meet.

In the sixth district, Grand Rapids, champion last year, was eliminated by Chisholm, 26-19. For the past two years Grand Rapids has won the championship.

Gaylord, '26 state champions, upset the dope bucket by surviving the opening round of the twentieth district meet, beating Fairfax 29-12.

SPORT TABLOIDS

Kaiser and Hansen in Good Showing
Avalon, Catalina Island—Joe Kaiser, Brooklyn semi-pro pitcher, and Roy Hansen, Chicago southpaw, have won the respect of Manager Joe McCarthy by the manner in which they have handled the ball during the early season training. Rain again interfered with the training of the athletes.

White Sox Training Camp Busy

Minneapolis 2, St. Paul 0

Minneapolis—Minneapolis defeated St. Paul here last night 2 to 0 in a hard fought hockey game. As a result of their victory, the Millers closed in on the Saints for third place in the American Hockey association standings.

NORTHWESTERN 36, PURDUE U. 25

Evansville, Ind., March 5.—(UP)—Exhibiting one of the most perfectly balanced teams it has had in years, Northwestern university experienced little difficulty in defeating Purdue, 36-25, in a dual western conference track and field meet.

St. Paul—Shuffle Callahan, Chicago mauler, failed to register his usual ring upset here last night when he lost to Jack Malone of St. Paul by a technical knockout in the seventh round. The referee stopped the fight when Callahan was hopelessly beaten. Tony Sanders of Chicago, by virtue of his greater experience, shaded My Sullivan of St. Paul in 10 rounds.

NOW HIGHEST PRICED MAN IN BASEBALL

CONTRACT FOR $210,000 FOR 3 YEARS SIGNED AND SEALED

NOW DOWN TO 221 POUNDS AND MAY TAKE OFF 6 POUNDS MORE

New York, March 5.—(UP)—With a $210,000 contract signed witnessed, and sealed, Babe Ruth starts for the St. Petersburg training camp of the New York Yankees tonight on a three year job that makes him the highest priced man in baseball.

Ty Cobb is supposed to be getting $75,000 a year from the Philadelphia Athletics and the Washington Senators are said to be paying Tris Speaker $50,000 a year, but it was learned today from an official of the Yankee club that Ruth's employers know Cobb signed for $40,000 for one year and Speaker signed for $30,000 a year.

Ruth was pleased today with a report from the hospital that his wife was much improved that there was no need for him to postpone his start for the training camp.

"I'm down to about 221 pounds now and I figure I can take off six more pounds in Sarasota," Ruth said. "I had enough hitting practice in California to get my eye on the ball and I know I'll be ready for real baseball within ten days."

After the official signing of the contract yesterday, Col. Ruppert repeated that no "side contracts" had been signed to give the Babe anything in the way of a bonus or extra compensation that would make his pay check more than $70,000 a year. "I'm glad to see the Babe on his way happy and satisfied and I would like to be going with him but I have to stay here for a while and make some money," he said.

Broadway skeptics, knowing of the double sets of contracts signed by professional boxers and promoters, were dubious about the Babe's salary. "When Jake Ruppert says he is paying the Babe $70,000 a year he is paying him no more and no less because Ruppert doesn't do business any other way," Charles A. Stoneham, president of the Giants, said, however.

Stoneham called Ruth and Ruppert for the sensible business-like way in which they had reached an agreement.

When the Babe was leaving the Yankee office he put out a big tanned hand and said, "thanks, Col. and Ed. I'll give you a home run record if those pitchers will give me a cut at the ball."

JACK DEMPSEY MAY

FIGHT THE WINNER OF SHARKEY-MALONEY GO

Los Angeles, March 5.—(UP)—Jack Dempsey may fight the winner of the Sharkey-Maloney bout after all, the former heavyweight champion said today.

Two weeks ago he declared he would fight no one but Gene Tunney, present champion.

"I am going into training some time within the next two weeks," Dempsey said today. "After a month of training I will know whether I can reach top-notch shape."

"If I can get back into condition, I will fight anyone, providing they offer me enough money."

"I prefer to fight Tunney, and I think I deserve a bout with him, but if Rickard will give me as much money to meet Maloney or Sharkey as I would for fighting Tunney, then I will meet either of them any place."

WILLIE HOPPE DEFEATED BY FELIX GRANGE

Washington, March 5.—(UP)—Willie Hoppe, 18.2 balling billiard champion lost his first match in defending his crown here when he was defeated by Felix Grange last night, 490 to 384, in 13 innings. Grange had high runs of 184, 36 and an unfinished run of 53, averaging 29 10-12. Hoppe had high runs of 156, 71 and 78 averaging 32.

In the afternoon round, Edouard Horemans, Belgian star, beat Kurey Matsuyama, 490 to 356, in 12 innings. Horemans had high runs of 61, 121 and 65, averaging 33 4-13. Matsuyama had runs of 41, 72 and 114, averaging 33 4-11.

Today's matches bring together Cochran vs. Hagenblacher, two undefeated players. In the afternoon round and Jake Schaefer vs. Matsuyama in the evening match.

PAY HONORS TO JIMMY DELANEY AT BOXING BOUT

St. Paul, March 5.—(UP)—When church bells and a long black casket send Jimmy Delaney on his way "west" next week, the fighter he was, must still hear other bells more familiar which were sounded for him here Friday night.

During a pause in the Malone-Callahan boxing program at the auditorium, 7,000 friends of Jimmy Delaney listened to a brief eulogy to the St. Paul light heavyweight boxer who died Friday.

Mayor Lawrence Hodgson described in simple words the courage and gentleness of the young fighter. Then, calling for bowed heads in the darkened, smoke filled arena, there went up, not a prayer for Delaney, but 10 strokes of the ringside gong—the first ever to be sounded for the still fighter.

FIGHT RESULTS

Berlin—Phil Scott, British heavyweight champion, outpointed Franz Diener, Germany champion.

Augusta, Me.—Dick Lambert, Portland, knocked out Tony Julian, Boston, fifth round. Billy Cross, Winnipeg, defeated Chick Willis, Augusta, decision, six rounds.

Schenectady, N. Y.—Red Herring, Utica, defeated Paul Gulotta, Brooklyn, decision, 10 rounds. Billy Drako, New York, outpointed Billy Batey, Nashville, 10 rounds.

Erie, Pa.—Johnny Leopard defeated K. O. Boyer, decision, 10 rounds.

Chicago—Billy Showers, St. Paul, welterweight, experienced little difficulty in winning from George Eagles, Oakland, Calif. The bout went 10 rounds to a decision.

San Francisco—Young Jack Thompson, Los Angeles negro lightweight, took the referee's decision from King Tut, St. Paul, in 10 fast rounds.

Denver—Roscoe Hall, Des Moines, won a four round decision from fighting Nobe Cervantes, Denver, in a slow, uninteresting mill.

Los Angeles—Young Nationalista, Filipino bantam, and Bud News Eber went 10 speedy rounds to a draw.

Organized Bowling May Bar Players

Players who participate in the proposed "World's Classic Association Championship" tournament at Detroit in April will be barred from organized bowling, A. J. Baxter of Huntington, president of the American Bowling congress, said recently.

Baxter asserted he approved the action of Secretary A. L. Langtry of Milwaukee, who has decreed that all who take part in the proposed Detroit meet would automatically be barred from the A. B. C.

American League Head

Frank J. Navin of Detroit, who has been named acting president of the American league, Byron Baneroff Johnson, who founded the circuit in 1903, has been voted a "temporary vacation" due to his health.

Aerial Doctors

The continent of Australia has been divided into circular districts, each with a radius of 200 miles, to be covered by flying doctors. In this way a physician in government employ may be summoned to any place in the whole country where he may be needed and reach there in a comparatively short time.

SMART PEOPLE CALL IT ANOTHER 'RICKARD DREAM'

PLANS CREDITED TO PROMOTER TO CORNER SPORT MARKET

SUPERVISION OF A STRING OF "MADISON SQUARE GARDENS"

By HENRY L. FARRELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, March 5.—(UP)—Plans credited to Tex Rickard for a corner on the entire professional sport market by the purchase of a couple of major league baseball teams, the supervision of a string of "Madison Square Gardens" for boxing and hockey, and the erection of a wheel of race tracks were looked upon by smart people in New York today as "another Rickard dream."

But while the conservatives gave their reasons for not believing enough money and influence could be mustered to put over such an enterprise, they had to admit that Rickard's craziest dreams had turned out to be record chasers and that his new Garden in New York made millionaires of several persons who believed in him.

Rickard will find great difficulty in including league baseball in his plans. He first would have to buy the ball clubs and the purchase would present obstacles.

Col. Ruppert, gasping for breath after having signed Babe Ruth to a $210,000 contract, summoned all his remaining strength to insist that his Yankees are not for sale.

Charles A. Stoneham, president of the Giants, mourning the loss of Pep Young, one of the greatest outfielders in baseball, and getting concerned over the good-natured time Eddie Roush is taking in signing a contract, insists just as strongly that the Giants are not for sale.

"There's my boy, Horace, over there," the elder Stoneham said, pointing to a handsome youth just a few years out of college. "I hope to be able to do the talking for this ball club for fifty more years and when I get through talking, my boy, Horace, will start talking for the club."

Rickard, it is true, might be able to buy the real estate holdings and the franchise of the Brooklyn club but Brooklyne is the territory of a rival promoter and if Rickard had seen any possibilities across the bridge he would not have let it get into an enemy's hands.

The Philadelphia Athletics are not on the market and the Phillies and the two Boston clubs are such duds from a box office viewpoint that even a daring Rickard would not step in where angels have the traffic crossings blocked.

Boxing, which has made Rickard, hasn't the ethics to which professional baseball, football and hockey aspire. The customer gets suspicious when one man's fingers are in too many fields.

There are so many embers of scandal still smoking on the trail of major league baseball that those who could not or would not sell out would balk any moves to get baseball in a sport amusement, wheel.

When the baseball parks began to be used for big boxing bouts, some of the magnates, especially those who couldn't get promoters to rent their stands, protested against the close association of boxing and baseball.

It also will be remembered that several years ago, the officials of a big major league club, who owned a race track, were told by Commissioner Landis that it would be well to divorce the track from the diamond and the track was turned into other hands.

WILLIAM BURKE, CADDY-MASTER, WINS GOLF TITLE

Sanford, Fla., March 5.—(UP)—William Burke, a caddy-master of Clearwater, Florida, today held the central Florida open golf championship. Burke won the title when he finished the 72 holes of the tournament in 290.

The Floridan was pushed closely by Al Espinosa of Chicago who had a total score of 291. Playing in his first Florida tournament, Walter Hagen tied Clarence Hackney of Atlantic City for third place with 292.

Other good scores were: Willie Klein, New York, 294; Gene Sarazen, New York, 295; Tony-an Armour, Washington, 296.

Tilden to Meet Alonso

Miami, Fla.—Big Bill Tilden and Manuel Alonso, of Spain's Davis cup team, meet Sunday in the final match of the South Florida tennis championship tournament.

Bugs Raymond Was Clever at Guessing

Pitchers evidently love high-sounding words. They used to tell about Bugs Raymond, who pretended that he understood all the stylish words his comrades used to spring in his hearing.

One day they were talking about a Kansas City pitcher who threw with either hand. "Do you know, Bugs," Matty is said to have said, "that guy is ambidextrous?"

"Sure," Raymond is alleged to have answered, "he'd shoot you in a minute."

SOUTH CHINA STRIKES HARD AGAINST NORTH

CANTONESE NATIONALISTS ATTACK WITH 50,000 TROOPS

MOVING FORWARD IN THREE COLUMNS ALONG LAKE TAIHU

By MILES W. VAUGHN

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Shanghai, March 5.—South China struck hard against the power of the north today.

The Cantonese nationalist attack with 50,000 troops moving forward in three columns was developing rapidly on both sides of Lake Taihu, a large body of water whose eastern shore is about 75 miles due west of Shanghai. The lake is about 30 miles long and 25 wide at its broadest point, which lies toward the south.

Advance guards of the Cantonese army reached Wu Kong in their thrust toward Soo Chow, which lies on the Shanghai-Nanking railway between Shanghai and the lake. The Cantonese sought to cut rail communications between the north China army at Shanghai and Nanking, which is the furthest south base.

Shanghai's position became more precarious owing to the action of General Li Pao Chang, formerly a subordinate of the resigned Marshal Sun Chuan Fang. Li was reported to have refused to accept the leadership of Sun's successor, Marshal Chang Chung-Chang, and to have gathered 16,000 troops about him with the intention of joining the Cantonese.

Li was in the vicinity of Woe Sung, a few miles north of Shanghai whence he could attack Chang and Shanghai from the rear.

The plight of Chang's army at Sun Kiang was dangerous. They already were virtually cut off from their main army, which is at Nanking, and the Cantonese moved forward in an effort to make the isolation complete.

American sailors from the U. S. S. Pigeon today recaptured the third of three Standard Oil Company launches seized by Chinese soldiers. The nationalists had this craft at Hankow, where it was located at a native landing. The Pigeon attached lines and towed the launch to midstream of the Yangtze river and ordered the Chinese to surrender it. The launch Meifoo was recaptured from Chinese here yesterday after a chase downstream. All Standard Oil launches have now been regained.

Diminutive Half Made Up in Speed for Size

Gus McPherson, University of North Carolina halfback, established a notable record in football for yardage gained in playing time. In the first three games in which he played McPherson advanced the ball a total of 181 yards in six plays in a playing time of seven minutes, and he scored a touchdown in each game. He played in only four games.

McPherson's record is all the more remarkable inasmuch as he never played in a football game until last season. He weighs only 129 pounds, but capitalized his tremendous speed to neutralize that lack of brawn. He is captain of the university's southern conference championship track team, and with his sprinting was one of the great factors in winning the meet last spring.

Yankees Not Likely to Defend Olympic Titles

The United States, winner of all five Olympic tennis titles in 1924 at Paris, isn't likely to defend any of them in the international games at Amsterdam in 1928 because of the dates selected for the next Olympic competition.

Under the schedule recently decided upon, the Olympic tennis championships next year will take place August 5 to 12. This would interfere with the national championships and Davis cup schedule, always well under way by the middle of August, and prevent the sending of top ranking stars abroad.

Vincent Richards, now a professional, and Helen Wills won the men's and women's singles titles at Paris in 1924.

Herb Joesting Likes to Be Alone When Off Field

Herb Joesting, all-American full-back sensation at the University of Minnesota, necessarily had to have lots of company on the gridiron—they all followed him—but during off hours of everyday life prefers seclusion.

That is the first nature of the Minnesota captain-elect, and now that football and post-season festivities have subsided, Herb has a little more to say about what he may do with his spare time.

Perhaps that is why he was seen choosing a dime motion picture show in the early part of an especially active evening, featuring a big league hockey game and outstanding social events both on and off the campus.

BOXING IS NOW QUITE POPULAR

Occupies Position of Prominence Among Colleges.

Boxing, a stepchild in intercollegiate athletics nine years ago, has advanced in the last few years to a position of prominence as an indoor sport among the colleges.

At the University of Pennsylvania the turnout for the boxing team and the classes in which the many art of self-defense are taught has been remarkable. George Decker, veteran coach of the mittmen, has been forced to make the candidates for the team report at varying times during the afternoon because of the crowded condition of the boxing room.

In its upward climb, boxing has had obstacles to overcome in colleges. The clash between culture and fistiana has gradually given away until the two go hand in hand.

There is a difference between college boxing and pugilism. In the former much heavier gloves are used than in the latter and the rounds are one minute shorter. In addition, clinching and holding are not permitted and result in disqualification.

Little slugging has been indulged in with the result that science is the prevailing feature. Decker, a master boxer himself, and never a hard hitter during the days he was meeting the stars of the lightweight class, believes that the college men get more out of being able to box than to slug.

Pennsylvania, Penn State, the Naval Academy and M. I. T. formed the first intercollegiate boxing association in 1918. Only a handful of students reported at that time as compared with close to a hundred at the present time. Since the beginning of the sport as a competitive one, Syracuse, Yale, Virginia and numerous other institutions of higher learning have gone in for the sport.

Each team goes through a regular schedule, with the season continuing until March when the intercollegiate championships are held. This year Pennsylvania will meet Syracuse, Army, Penn State, Yale and Navy. There is a possibility also that either Princeton or Virginia or both will be met.

The turnout of freshmen, who are ineligible for varsity competition, has caused the formation of a first-year team with the prospect of three or four other meets.

Princeton Pistol Range One of Best in Country

Princeton has a new pistol range, considered by experts to be one of the best in the country. It is part of the equipment of the Princeton Field Artillery corps.

The new range has a unique equipment for the reclaiming of bullets. After the bullets have passed through the targets, they are deflected by three rows of specially built steel plates erected parallel to the floor and at an angle from the wall. The bullets are deflected twice, falling harmlessly to the floor behind the targets.

A concrete-lined pit seven feet deep has been provided in front of the targets into which the bullet's eyes are lowered to be scored and changed. Seven ranges have been erected. The pit is equipped with a safety device which warns the marksmen whenever an attendant is emerging from the pit.

BRAINERD IN 2nd TOURNAMENT VICTORY

LOCALS WIN
OVER L. F. BY
SCORE OF 14-11

LARGE GROUP OF BRAINERD
FANS SEE THRILLING
GAME

BRAINERD HIGH NOW ENTERS THE FINALS TO-NIGHT

"BEAT CROSBY-IRONTON!"

Through coaches, chartered buses, cars, filled with eager fans returning home from a most thrilling evening of tournament games, reverberated these golden words as the words, "Beat Little Falls," echoed by the fans yesterday.

And beat Little Falls they certainly did. The Brainerd high school basketball quint is now in the finals for the championship of the 11th district by virtue of its victory last evening over Little Falls in the semi-finals by the score of 14 to 11.

It was a hard fought battle similar in a way, although even more exciting considering the prize to be fought for, to the games in the past when Little Falls and Brainerd met to settle disputes on basketball supremacy.

Scintillating with first rate basketball throughout every minute of the game, three points separated the teams from even up last evening. Close to 2,000 fans packed that Aitkin Armory last evening, wild fans, nervous ones, some with pitiful looks on their faces as they watched the score board gradually changing, and others exultant with a look of gratefulness upon their countenances for the boys from Brainerd out on the court as they fought every inch of the way, never giving up hope, and then coming out victorious. Oh, boy, what a grand and glorious feeling as the time-keepers' whistle sounded the climax of the game.

Never before in the annals of basketball in the district have the fans been so loyal as in the present tournament. The Aitkin floor is well adapted to real basketball. It enables the players to display their real wares, gives the fans an excellent opportunity of witnessing the games, that is if one comes early and secures a seat. The gallery was packed fifteen minutes before the game started. Late comers were obliged to stand or spread their coats right up to the court lines to obtain a good view. Was it worth it? There's no question about the answer. It certainly was.

Brainerd today is lauding the playing of the team last evening and many silent prayers are being expressed for their welfare in tonight's battle with Crosby for the championship.

For Brainerd meets Crosby tonight, Crosby also was victorious last evening in going one notch higher than the semi-finals by defeating the Aitkin quint by the score of 21 to 15. It also was a thrilling game and only up till the last few minutes was the outcome of the game certain. Aitkin fought a game that is worthy of creditable mention.

In order to beat Crosby tonight, the Brainerd team must play at their top notch speed for the entire game. They must not flinch for a single minute, for Crosby has a certain trait about their playing that, once given a break, they are certain of baskets.

Fitzharris and Guin were the only field goal scorers for the locals, Fitz sinking three and Guin two. Little Falls came through with but three cagers, Terri, Bolander and Hall making one apiece.

The game was characterized by numerous fouls, Lowe being put out in the last quarter for four personal fouls. Barnes was placed in as a substitute.

The teams lined up as follows: Brainerd—Fitzharris and Orth, forwards; Guin, center; Derocher and Lowe, guards. Subs—Wise and Barnes.

Little Falls—Terri, Gierok, forwards; Bolander, center; Keeler, Hall, guards. Sub—Leiners.

Scoring: Field goals—Fitzharris 3, Guin 2, Terri 1, Bolander 1, Hall 1. Free throws made—Fitzharris 2, Lowe 2, Gierok 1, Hall 4.

This afternoon Little Falls and Aitkin by virtue of their defeat in the semi-finals played a consolation game.

Favorites Prove Victorious

Nearly every favorite doped to win in the various districts of Minnesota has found its way to the championship clash. Eleven districts have played their opening rounds, four of which reached their semi-finals last night.

Gilbert, of the seventh district, runner-up in the state tournament last year, won its opening game by defeating Virginia in a fast game, 20-18. Gilbert has only one letter man back from last year's squad and still has some hard competition remaining in the district meet.

In the sixth district, Grand Rapids, champion last year, was eliminated by Chisholm, 26-19. For the past two years Grand Rapids has won the championship.

Gaylord, '26 state champions, upset the dope bucket by surviving the opening round of the twentieth district meet, beating Fairfax 29-12.

SPORT TABLOIDS

Kaiser and Hansen in Good Showing
Avalon, Catalina Island—Joe Kaiser, Brooklyn semi-pro pitcher, and Roy Hansen, Chicago southpaw, have won the respect of Manager Joe McCarthy by the manner in which they have handled the ball during the early season training. Rain again interfered with the training of the athletes.

White Sox Training Camp Busy

Shreveport, La.—Good weather and a determination of purpose have combined to make the Chicago White Sox training camp a busy one. Manager Schalk has his proteges working industriously and training is already beginning to tell if fast thrown balls and hard hit ones are anything to judge from.

Voight a Tournament Winner

Palm Beach, Fla.—The Palm Beach golf championship was added today to the golf tournament successes of George J. Voight, Washington, D. C. Voight won the tournament yesterday by defeating Harvey Schaffer, 11 to 10.

Paulino to Fight Stribling

New York—Paulino, basque heavyweight who defeated Knute Hansen here recently, has been signed by Eddie Mack, matchmaker for the Argonne A. A. Boston, for three bouts. The first probably will be April 19 against Young Stribling, Mack said.

Controversies Over Huddle After Touchdown

New York—Controversies over the shift, huddle and point after touchdown were being fought out by the football rules committee today. New rules may be announced this afternoon. E. K. Hall, Dartmouth, was re-elected chairman.

Martha Morelius Smashes Own Record

Philadelphia—Martha Morelius, Women's Swimming association, New York, swam 230 yards in 3:10 4-15, smashing her own record of 3:12. Temple university swimmers defeated New York U. team.

Blind Boxer Dies

Philadelphia—Elwood McCloskey, 56, veteran boxer who had been blind for 25 years, died here. He fought as a featherweight.

Sharkey-McTigue Receipts

New York—Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, received about $34,000 for stopping Mike McTigue, former light heavyweight champion, in Rickard's Garden Thursday night and McTigue got about $28,000 for his end, according to unofficial figures. The receipts were more than $120,000.

Miss Cassel Defeats Mrs. Stenz

Palm Beach, Fla.—Miss Clara Cassel, New York tennis star, held the Florida state women's tennis championship today as a result of her win over Mrs. B. F. Stenz, New York, 6-1, 6-4, in the final match of the tournament.

Poland, Portugal in Davis Cup Play

New York—Poland and Portugal have filed challenges to compete for the Davis cup this season, the United States Lawn Tennis association announced today. They asked to play in the European zone.

Miss Orcutt to Play Mrs. Anderson

St. Augustine, Fla.—Miss Maureen Orcutt, Englewood, N. J., and Mrs. J. Laroque Anderson, Cherry Valley, L. I., meet today in the finals of the Florida east coast women's golf tournament.

Minneapolis 2, St. Paul 0

Minneapolis—Minneapolis defeated St. Paul here last night 2 to 0 in a hard fought hockey game. As a result of their victory, the Millers closed in on the Saints for third place in the American Hockey association standings.

NORTHWESTERN 36, PURDUE U. 25

Evanston, Ill., March 5.—(UP)—

Exhibiting one of the most perfectly balanced teams it has had in years, Northwestern university experienced little difficulty in defeating Purdue, 36-25, in a dual western conference track and field meet.

St. Paul—Shuffle Callahan, Chicago mauler, failed to register his usual ring upset here last night when he lost to Jack Malone of St. Paul by a technical knockout in the seventh round. The referee stopped the fight when Callahan was hopelessly beaten. Tony Sanders of Chicago, by virtue of his greater experience, shaded My Sullivan of St. Paul in 10 rounds.

NOW HIGHEST PRICED MAN IN BASEBALL

CONTRACT FOR $210,000 FOR 3 YEARS SIGNED AND SEALED

NOW DOWN TO 221 POUNDS AND MAY TAKE OFF 6 POUNDS MORE

New York, March 5.—(UP)—With a $210,000 contract signed witnessed, and sealed, Babe Ruth starts for the St. Petersburg training camp of the New York Yankees tonight on a three year job that makes him the highest priced man in baseball.

Ty Cobb is supposed to be getting $75,000 a year from the Philadelphia Athletics and the Washington Senators are said to be paying Tris Speaker $50,000 a year, but it was learned today from an official of the Yankee club that Ruth's employers know Cobb signed for $40,000 for one year and Speaker signed for $30,000 a year.

Ruth was pleased today with a report from the hospital that his wife was much improved and that there was no need for him to postpone his start for the training camp.

"I'm down to about 221 pounds now and I figure I can take off six more pounds in Sarasota," Ruth said. "I had enough hitting practice in California to get my eye on the ball and I know I'll be ready for real baseball within ten days."

After the official signing of the contract yesterday, Col. Ruppert repeated that no "side contracts" had been signed to give the Babe anything in the way of a bonus or extra compensation that would make his pay check more than $70,000 a year.

"I'm glad to see the Babe on his way happy and satisfied and I would like to be going with him but I have to stay here for a while and make some money," he said.

Broadway skeptics, knowing of the double sets of contracts signed by professional boxers and promoters, were dubious about the Babe's salary.

"When Jake Ruppert says he is paying the Babe $70,000 a year he is paying him no more and no less because Ruppert doesn't do business any other way," Charles A. Stoneham, president of the Giants said, however.

Stoneham called Ruth and Ruppert for the sensible business-like way in which they had reached an agreement.

When the Babe was leaving the Yankee office he put out a big tanned hand and said: "Thanks, Col. and Ed. I'll give you a home run record if those pitchers will give me a cut at the ball."

JACK DEMPSEY MAY FIGHT THE WINNER OF SHARKEY-MALONEY GO

Los Angeles, March 5.—(UP)—Jack Dempsey may fight the winner of the Sharkey-Maloney bout after all, the former heavyweight champion said today.

Two weeks ago he declared he would fight no one but Gene Tunney, present champion.

"I am going into training some time within the next two weeks," Dempsey said today. "After a month of training I will know whether I can reach top-notch shape."

"If I can get back into condition, I will fight anyone, providing they offer me enough money."

"I prefer to fight Tunney, and I think I deserve a bout with him, but if Rickard will give me as much money to meet Maloney or Sharkey as I would for fighting Tunney, then I will meet either of them any place."

WILLIE HOPPE DEFEATED BY FELIX GRANGE

Washington, March 5.—(UP)—Willie Hoppe, 18.2 bakline billiard champion lost his first match in defending his crown here when he was defeated by Felix Grange last night, 400 to 384, in 13 innings. Grange had high runs of 184, 26 and an finished run of 53, averaging 39 10-13. Hoppe had high runs of 155, 71 and 78 averaging 32.

In the afternoon round, Edouard Horemans, Belgian star, beat Kinsey Matsuyama, 400 to 356, in 12 innings. Horemans had high runs of 61, 121 and 55, averaging 33 4-13. Matsuyama had runs of 41, 72 and 114, averaging 33 4-11.

Today's matches bring together Cochran vs. Hagenbacher, two undefeated players. In the afternoon round and Jake Schaefer vs. Matsuyama in the evening match.

PAY HONORS TO JIMMY DELANEY AT BOXING BOUT

St. Paul, March 5.—(UP)—When church bells and a long black caisson send Jimmy Delaney on his way "west" next week, the fighter he was, must still hear other bells more familiar which were sounded for him here Friday night.

During a pause in the Malone-Callahan boxing program at the auditorium, 7,000 friends of Jimmy Delaney listened to a brief eulogy to the St. Paul light heavyweight boxer who died Friday.

Mayor Lawrence Hodgson described in simple words the courage and gentleness of the young fighter. Then, calling for bowed heads in the darkened, smoke filled arena, there went up, not a prayer for Delaney, but 10 strokes of the ringside gong—the first ever to be sounded for the still fighter.

FIGHT RESULTS

Berlin—Phil Scott, British heavyweight champion, outpointed Franz Diener, Germany champion.

Augusta, Me.—Dick Lambert, Portland, knocked out Tony Julian, Boston, fifth round. Billy Cross, Winnipeg, defeated Chick Willis, Augusta, decision, six rounds.

Schenectady, N. Y.—Red Herring, Utica, defeated Paul Galotta, Brooklyn, decision, 10 rounds. Billy Drako, New York, outpointed Billy Batey, Nashville, 10 rounds.

Erie, Pa.—Johnny Leopard defeated K. O. Boyer, decision, 10 rounds.

Chicago—Billy Showers, St. Paul, welterweight, experienced little difficulty in winning from George Eagles, Oakland, Calif. The bout went 10 rounds to a decision.

San Francisco—Young Jack Thompson, Los Angeles negro lightweight, took the referee's decision from King Tut, St. Paul, in 10 fast rounds.

Denver—Roscoe Hall, Des Moines, won a four round decision from fighting Nobe Cervantes, Denver, in a slow, uninteresting mill.

Los Angeles—Young Nationalista, Filipino bantam, and Bad News Eber went 10 speedy rounds to a draw.

Organized Bowling May Bar Players

Players who participate in the proposed "World's Classic Association Championship" tournament at Detroit in April will be barred from organized bowling, A. J. Baxter of Huntington, president of the American Bowling congress, said recently.

Baxter asserted he approved the action of Secretary A. L. Langtry of Milwaukee, who has decreed that all who take part in the proposed Detroit meet would automatically be barred from the A. B. C.

American League Head

WILLIAM BURKE, CADDY-MASTER, WINS GOLF TITLE

Sanford, Fla., March 5.—(UP)—William Burke, a caddymaster of Clearwater, Florida, today held the central Florida open golf championship. Burke won the title when he finished the 72 holes of the tournament in 290.

The Floridian was pushed closely by Al Espingosa of Chicago who had a total score of 291. Playing in his first Florida tournament, Walter Hagen tied Clarence Hackney of Atlantic City for third place with 292.

Other good scores were: Willie Klein, New York, 294; Gene Sarazen, New York, 295; Tommy Armour, Washington, 296.

Tilden to Meet Alonso

Miami, Fla.—Big Bill Tilden and Manuel Alonso, of Spain's Davis cup team, meet Sunday in the final match of the South Florida tennis championship tournament.

Bugs Raymond Was Clever at Guessing

Pitchers evidently love high-sounding words. They used to tell about Bugs Raymond, who pretended that he understood all the stylish words his comrades used to spring in his hearing.

One day they were talking about a Kansas City pitcher who threw with either hand. "Do you know, Bugs," Matty is said to have said, "that guy is ambidextrous?"

"Sure," Raymond is alleged to have answered, "he'd shoot you in a minute."

BOXING IS NOW QUITE POPULAR

Occupies Position of Prominence Among Colleges.

Boxing, a stepchild in intercollegiate athletics nine years ago, has advanced in the last few years to a position of prominence as an indoor sport among the colleges.

At the University of Pennsylvania the turnout for the boxing team and the classes in which the many art of self-defense are taught has been remarkable. George Decker, veteran coach of the mittmen, has been forced to make the candidates for the team report at varying times during the afternoon because of the crowded condition of the boxing room.

In its upward climb, boxing has had obstacles to overcome in colleges. The clash between culture and fistiana has gradually given away until the two go hand in hand.

There is a difference between college boxing and pugilism. In the former much heavier gloves are used than in the latter and the rounds are one minute shorter. In addition, clinching and holding are not permitted and result in disqualification.

Little slugging has been indulged in with the result that science is the prevailing feature. Decker, a master boxer himself, and never a hard biter during the days he was meeting the stars of the lightweight class, believes that the college men get more out of being able to box than to slug.

Pennsylvania, Penn State, the Naval Academy and M. I. T. formed the first intercollegiate boxing association in 1918. Only a handful of students reported at that time as compared with close to a hundred at the present time. Since the beginning of the sport as a competitive one, Syracuse, Yale, Virginia and numerous other institutions of higher learning have gone in for the sport.

Each team goes through a regular schedule, with the season continuing until March when the intercollegiate championships are held. This year Pennsylvania will meet Syracuse, Army, Penn State, Yale and Navy. There is a possibility also that either Princeton or Virginia or both will be met.

The turnout of freshmen, who are ineligible for varsity competition, has caused the formation of a first-year team with the prospect of three or four other meets.

SOUTH CHINA STRIKES HARD AGAINST NORTH

CANTONESE NATIONALISTS ATTACK WITH 50,000 TROOPS

MOVING FORWARD IN THREE COLUMNS ALONG LAKE TAIHU

By MILES W. VAUGHN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Shanghai, March 5.—South China struck hard against the power of the north today.

The Cantonese nationalist attack with 50,000 troops moving forward in three columns was developing rapidly on both sides of Lake Taihu, a large body of water whose eastern shore is about 75 miles due west of Shanghai. The lake is about 30 miles long and 25 wide at its broadest point, which lies toward the south.

Advance guards of the Cantonese army reached Wu Kong in their thrust toward Soo Chow, which lies on the Shanghai-Nanking railway between Shanghai and the lake. The Cantonese sought to cut rail communications between the north China army at Shanghai and Nanking, which is the furthest south base.

Shanghai's position became more precarious owing to the action of General Li Pao Chang, formerly a subordinate of the resigned Marshal Sun Chuan Fang. Li was reported to have refused to accept the leadership of Sun's successor, Marshal Chang Chung-Chang, and to have gathered 16,000 troops about him with the intention of joining the Cantonese.

Li was in the vicinity of Woei Sung, a few miles north of Shanghai whence he could attack Chang and Shanghai from the rear.

The plight of Chang's army at Sun Kiang was dangerous. They already were virtually cut off from their main army, which is at Nanking, and the Cantonese moved forward in an effort to make the isolation complete.

American sailors from the U. S. S. Pigeon today recaptured the third of three Standard Oil Company launches seized by Chinese soldiers. The nationalists had this craft at Hankow, where it was located at a native landing. The Pigeon attached lines and towed the launch to midstream of the Yangtze river and ordered the Chinese to surrender it. The launch Meifoo was recaptured from Chinese here yesterday after a chase downstream. All Standard Oil launches have now been regained.

Diminutive Half Made Up in Speed for Size

Gus McPherson, University of North Carolina halfback, established a notable record in football for yardage gained in playing time. In the first three games in which he played McPherson advanced the ball a total of 181 yards in six plays in a playing time of seven minutes, and he scored a touchdown in each game. He played in only four games.

McPherson's record is all the more remarkable inasmuch as he never played in a football game until last season. He weighs only 129 pounds, but capitalized his tremendous speed to neutralize that lack of brawn. He is captain of the university's southern conference championship track team, and with his sprinting was one of the great factors in winning the meet last spring.

Yankees Not Likely to Defend Olympic Titles

The United States, winner of all five Olympic tennis titles in 1924 at Paris, isn't likely to defend any of them in the international games at Amsterdam in 1928 because of the dates selected for the next Olympic competition.

Under the schedule recently decided upon, the Olympic tennis championships next year will take place August 5 to 12. This would interfere with the national championships and Davis cup schedule, always well under way by the middle of August, and prevent the sending of top ranking stars abroad.

Vincent Richards, now a professional, and Helen Wills won the men's and women's singles titles at Paris in 1924.

Herb Joesting Likes to Be Alone When Off Field

Herb Joesting, all-American full-back sensation at the University of Minnesota, necessarily had to have lots of company on the gridiron—they all followed him—but during off hours of everyday life he prefers seclusion. That is the first nature of the Minnesota captain-elect, and now that football and post-season festivities have subsided, Herb has a little more to say about what he may do with his spare time.

Perhaps that is why he was seen choosing a dime motion picture show in the early part of an especially active evening, requiring a big league hockey game and outstanding social events both on and off the campus.

DE VALERA IN U. S. AGAIN AFTER 6 YEAR ABSENCE
New York, March 5.—(UP)—
Eamon de Valera, leader of the Republican party in Ireland and the outstanding foreigner in Erin's struggle for self rule and freedom returned to the United States today after an absence of six years.
A throng of Irish sympathizers accorded him a wild welcome and later he was received at city hall for official greeting.

The purpose of de Valera's visit is two-fold. He comes first to appear before the United States supreme court on March 9 in a suit involving $2,500,000 loaned to the Irish republic. While he is here on this mission he intends to voice Erin's appreciation to the American people for the support they have given to her long fought cause.
De Valera, more than six feet in height, presented a striking figure to the 2,000 sympathizers awaiting him.
So great was the enthusiasm of the crowd that men as well as women crowded to kiss his cheeks and press his hand. Tumultuous cheers accompanied the waving of flags as he stepped ashore upon the soil of what happens, by a strange coincidence, to be his native Manhattan. De Valera was born in New York.

WILL HONOR THE BISHOP'S CRUSADE

To be Observed at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, March 6-11 Inclusive

SERVICES ANNOUNCED

Bishop and Mrs. McElwain and Others to be in Attendance

During the last two months the Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church have been visiting various dioceses through the entire United States, outside of their own, and conducting what they have called the Bishops' Crusade. The plan consists of conducting a series of services in various parishes for the purpose of presenting the claims of religion in general. During the month of January sectional meetings have been held in the northern part of Minnesota, which is known as the diocese of Duluth of the Protestant Episcopal church over which Bishop G. G. Bennett of Duluth presides. These special services of the Bishops' Crusade are now, during Lent, to be conducted in all of the parishes. St. Paul's Episcopal church of Brainerd has been especially fortunate in having come to it Bishop McElwain of Minneapolis, the bishop of the southern diocese in the state of Minnesota. It will be the first visit of Bishop McElwain to Brainerd. He will remain in the city to preach each of the three week day evenings that are to be devoted to the Bishops' Crusade, namely Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings of next week, March 9, 10 and 11, at which time the bishop will preach each evening at a special Crusade service which will be held in St. Paul's Episcopal church, Seventh and Juniper streets, at 7:30 p. m.

Bishop McElwain will be assisted during the entire time by the Rev. Earl B. Jewell of St. Stephen's church, Paynesville, Minn., who has had wide experience in all of this work.

Sunday morning, March 6, a layman has been sent to St. Paul's Episcopal church of Brainerd to speak from the layman's viewpoint on the Bishops' Crusade. C. B. Lyon of Minneapolis a prominent layman of the church in the twin cities and southern diocese will speak at St. Paul's Episcopal church at the regular 11 o'clock service and will conduct a conference for men at the church at 4:30 Sunday afternoon.

During the visit of Bishop McElwain he will conduct a conference for all of the women of the parish Wednesday afternoon at 4 p. m., and Friday evening at 5:30 p. m., there will be a supper and conference for all of the young people of the parish, which will be held at the rectory of the church, 418 North Seventh street.

The Crucible

The passing over from one year to the next offers opportunity for stock-taking or inventory-making in life. What interest in service has my life yielded? Life has been considered by some one as doing business under the firm name of "Soul & Company." Soul is the senior partner. Body is the associate. January first is the time to set down the income and the outgo of the character, to consider how life's business prospers; to determine whether "Soul & Company" are rich in the coin of heaven or are facing moral insolvency.—Cheesman A. Herrick.

Party-Line Incident

"Whenever my sister called up my mother, as she did every morning at a certain hour, the people downstairs listened in. That led to installing a private line," writes M. G. "A short time afterward a member of the family met one of the eavesdroppers. She said, 'You're not on our party line any more, are you?' The answer was, 'No.' 'I'm sorry,' said the eavesdropper, 'because we don't get the latest news any more.' . . . That sort of eavesdropping is up.—Capper's Weekly

Celebration Passed Up

Fourth of July in Vicksburg, Miss., is much the same as any other day. It is the only city in the United States which does not celebrate the Fourth, as it was on that day that the city fell to the Union troops during the Civil war.—Detroit News.

STENCH BOMBS HURLED AT HOTEL AT DETROIT

Detroit, March 5.—(UP)—Special detail of police today was on guard at one of Detroit's largest hotels following another outbreak of stench bomb hurlers.

The latest bomb throwing, laid to labor trouble, caused patrons of the hotel Fort Shelby dining room to flee into the streets.

The attack on the hotel was due to the fact that the contractor building a $3,000,000 addition to the hotel is employing only non-union men, Maynard Smith, hotel owner, said today.

More than 100 stench bombs have been hurled in Detroit during the past year and a half and in most instances the throwers have been accompanied by thuggery and destruction of property, police said.

Enactment of a bill now before the state legislature provides a prison sentence for anyone convicted of hurling or possessing one of the bombs.

6 YEAR GIRL IS VICTIM OF A MURDEROUS BANDIT

Alexandria, Va., March 5.—(UP)—Six-year-old Loretta Ridgeway died today, the victim of a robber who yesterday seriously beat her mother and sister at their home here.

The mother, Mrs. George Ridgeway, and Loretta's sister are in a critical condition in a hospital while Louis Boersig, 45, their alleged assailant, is held incommunicado in a jail outside town.

Threats of neighbors to do violence caused authorities to take him out of the city.

Mrs. Ridgeway was found nursing her infant. With blood streaming from a wound in her head, she defiantly held a poker in her hand, as though to ward off another attack.

CLAIM AVIATOR COMMITTED SUICIDE

Philadelphia, Pa., March 5.—(UP)—A man believed to be Harry Kent Oliver, 33, a former army aviator, committed suicide by leaping 135 feet from the Delaware river bridge here today.

The suicide jumped from the pedestrian footway near the Philadelphia shore. Police, after an hour of grappling, reported they had been unable to recover his body.

The suicide was the ninth since the bridge was opened last July.

FUNERAL RITES FOR MRS. UELAND

Minneapolis, March 5.—(UP)—Honored by members of the Minnesota legislature and mourned by club women of the state, funeral services were held here today for Mrs. Andreas Ueland, prominent in affairs of women's organizations.

Mrs. Ueland was killed in an automobile accident here Tuesday.

Rev. Frederick M. Elliott, pastor of Unity Unitarian church, St. Paul, officiated at the services held at Lakewood chapel.

The state legislature was represented by Mrs. Hannah Kempfer, Erhardt, and Mrs. Mabel Hurd Paige and Mrs. Sumner T. McKnight of Minneapolis, members of the house of representatives.

ENTERTAINMENT WELL ATTENDED

P. Alfred Quackenbush Displays Ability at Performance Thursday

OTHER PLEASING NUMBERS

Held Under the Auspices of the Harrison Parent Teachers Association

The entertainment Thursday evening in the high school auditorium under the auspices of the Harrison Parent-Teachers association attracted a large gathering.

P. Alfred Quackenbush lived up to everything advance notices had to say of his talent. He displayed artistic work in the way of crayon sketches and his ability to change from one form of entertainment to another places him in a class with the leading versatile entertainers in the northwest. Mr. Quackenbush's home is at Duluth and his services are eagerly sought after where entertainment is desired.

This versatile entertainer demonstrated his ability further by bringing forth melodious notes on the saw, played with a violin bow and his impersonation of Deacon Hezekiah Jones was one of the outstanding highlights of the evening's performance.

Quaint were the folk songs put on by the Harrison school children and promising talent was displayed by the Boys Glee club of the Harrison school.

Little Howard Hill and Marie Ludwig, of the second grade danced the Swedish "Klappdansen" in costumes imported from Sweden in a highly pleasing manner.

2 MORE BODIES RECOVERED FROM CAPE COD WATERS

STORMS DASHED TO PIECES 3-MASTED SCHOONER MONTCLAR

LOSS OF FIVE LIVES REPORTED IN THIS TRAGEDY OF SEA

Orleans, Mass., March 5.—(UP)—Two more bodies were recovered today from the still angry Cape Cod waters that yesterday dashed to pieces the three-masted schooner Montclar with a loss of five lives off here.

Word of the recovery of the bodies as yet unidentified, was received at the Orleans coast guard station from Capt. George S. Nicholson of the old harbor coast guard station at Chatham. The bodies were found not far from the latter station.

DYNAMITE BLAST AT PRISON CAMP

ONE NEGRO CONVICT KILLED, TWO INJURED, WHITE GUARD HURT

Birmingham, Ala., March 5.—(UP)—One negro convict was killed, two others were seriously injured and a white guard was hurt here today by a dynamite explosion at prison camp No. 4 near Bessemer.

Will Murray was the negro killed. James Sims and Willis Jackson were in a hospital perhaps fatally injured. Leo Howton, guard is not seriously hurt.

The other 25 men in a gravel pit where the explosion occurred, escaped without injury.

HARMON TROPHY AWARDED TO SHIRLEY J. SHORT

Washington, March 5.—(UP)—President Coolidge today presented to Shirley J. Short, postoffice air mail pilot, the Harmon trophy for 1926, awarded by the American division of the international league of aviators for the year's best demonstration of reliability of airplanes for transportation.

Short, a native of Elliott, Ill., flew 2,169 hours and 14 minutes between July 1, 1923 and November 30, 1926, without serious mishap. He was selected over Lieut. Commander Richard Byrd and Lieut. Floyd Bennett, the first men to fly over the north pole in an airplane.

MEN'S CLUB PUT ON ENTERTAINMENT

Vocal solo—Dr. C. E. Anderson.
Closing hymn—By the assembly.
Benediction.

CROWDED CONDITIONS IN MINNESOTA PRISONS

St. Paul, March 5.—(UP)—Crowded conditions in prisons of Minnesota are due to lack of leniency on the part of the state parole board in the opinion of one of its members.

At a senate crime and crime prevention committee hearing yesterday, Rev. H. C. Swearingen, St. Paul, defended the operations and personnel of the board.

Proposals of the Minnesota crime commission to institute a paid chairman to work full time and two others who are not heads of penal institutions as members of the parole board were scored by Rev. Swearingen.

Lessening of sentences for good behavior—now in use at Stillwater—should be adopted for the reformatory at St. Cloud, he contended. The commission is opposed to such practice.

Rev. Swearingen suggested that the legislature improve present conditions by establishment of a minimum sentence. This minimum would be in proportion to the maximum of the sentence, making it impossible for prisoners to ask for parole before the minimum sentence is served.

The crime commission's proposals were detailed at the senate committee hearing by Wilbur H. Cherry.

The senate committee took no action on the proposed changes.

PAWTUCKET MILLS FACING SYMPATHETIC WALKOUT TODAY

Pawtucket, R. I., March 5.—(UP)—Fear of further spread of the strike which already has closed two mills of the Manville-Jencks Company at Woonsocket today resulted in the assignment of police guards to the company's Pawtucket mill.

Massed picketing already had caused a sympathetic walkout of some 500 hands at the Globe mill in nearby Woonsocket, and it was believed similar tactics might be employed at the local mill, where about 2200 persons were at work.

TIAJUANA DERBY TO BE RUN SUNDAY

Tiajuana, Mex., March 5.—(UP)—The Tiajuana derby, the fourth stake race of the meet here, will be run tomorrow. There is little possibility of a fast track because of intermittent rains of the past week and the early three-year olds with mud running ancestry are in for a heavy play in the hope that another coltogram may be uncovered as was the case at New Orleans last month.

The derby distance is a mile and an eighth with a purse price of $25,000 added. The winners' end is $20,000 and all entrance and starting fees.

SEEK MINISTER ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Klamath Falls, Ore., March 5.—(UP)—The wilderness of the Siskiyou country today concealed Rev. M. L. Petelle, former pastor of the Christian church here, as officers sought him on charges of possessing and transporting liquor.

Petelle and an unidentified companion were said by officers to have escaped into the thick underbrush bordering a road along which was found the ex-preacher's automobile, containing 60 gallons of liquor. Letters addressed to Rev. Petelle also were found.

TWO BOYS KILLED; STRUCK BY TRAIN

Chester, Pa., March 5.—(UP)—Struck by a Pennsylvania express train while playing on the tracks near their home here, two boys, believed to be Paul Trainer, 12, and his 10-year-old brother, Raymond, were killed today.

The bodies were so badly mangled that the father of the youths said he could not positively identify them.

American Competition Given as the Cause Of Great Britain Losing Marine Coal Trade

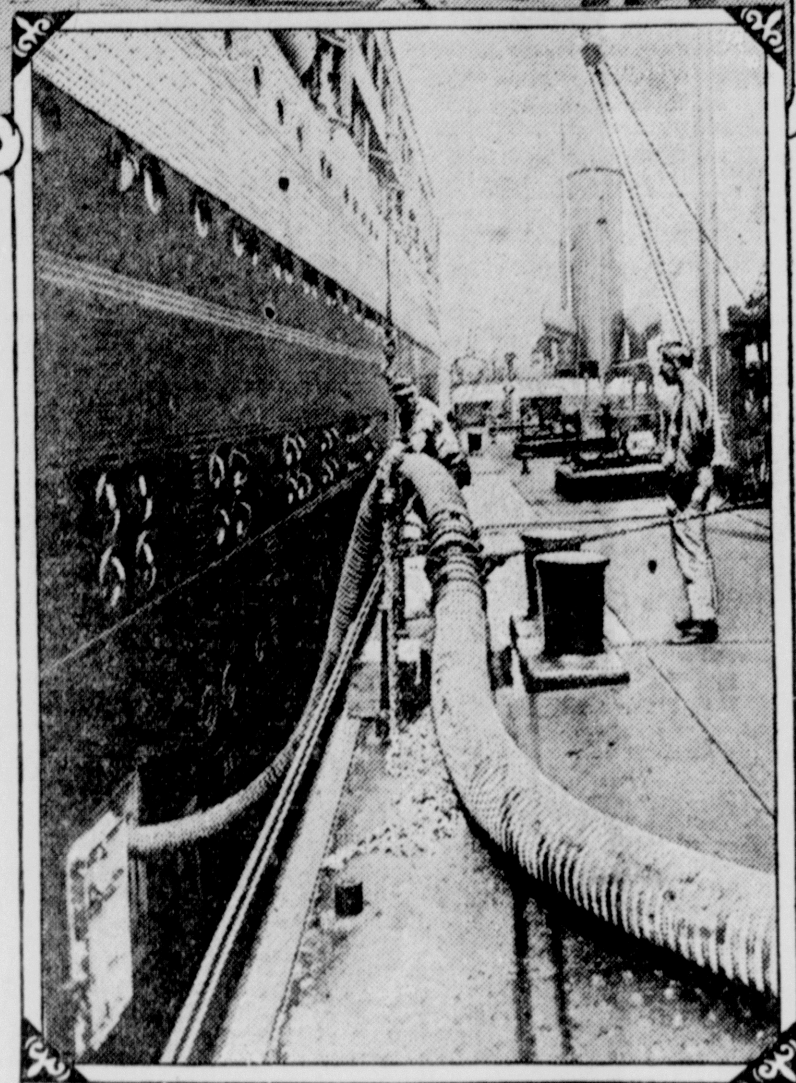

By JUDSON C. WELLIVER

SUCH interest has been aroused recently by statements attributing to America a large responsibility for the depression in British coal mining. That depression has been reflected throughout the entire realm of British business, for coal is the great basic staple of the kingdom. It is to Britain much as cotton is to our south or coffee to Brazil.

One of the important outlets for British coal has for many decades been for bunkering steamships. Britain's chief mining districts are close to the sea and to good harbors. Possessing at once the greatest navy and the greatest merchant marine in the world, it was natural that England should dominate this business. Not only British ships, but those of many other countries, burned chiefly or entirely British coal.

But this business is now decidedly depressed and the outlook for its future is discouraging. It has suffered from the competition of American fuel; not coal, but oil. A few years ago the trans-Atlantic liners burned British coal almost to the exclusion of the American product. Many of them would take on coal at the European end of the trip, sufficient for the round trip or the greater part of it. Now they take on most of their fuel in American ports; but it is oil rather than coal.

For example, an ocean greyhound like the Aquitania takes on about 55,000 barrels of oil when she comes to this side. It is sufficient to carry her back to Europe, with nearly enough left to return to this side again. The bunkers of most liners will not hold enough for the round trip, so they take a few thousand barrels on the other side—also American oil, as a rule.

How greatly this change has affected British coal is suggested by the figures on conversion of shipping from coal to oil burning. The navies have led the way, because the advantages of oil made it absolutely necessary in keeping them at top notch of effectiveness. Of about 6,000,000 tons in the world's navies, the greater part now uses oil. Of the merchant marine, already 33 per cent uses oil, and 1926, according to a statement recently issued, will be the first year to see a majority of the newly-built tonnage from British shipyards composed of oil-burning vessels. The shipbuilders of Britain must keep step with progress, even though in doing so they help suffocate their country's most important industry.

This change to oil fuel was hastened by the war; in the case of navies, because it assured greater efficiency. The most recent figures issued by the U. S. Department of Commerce shows the merchant tonnage of the world as 62,701,000 tons, of which 20,339,000 burns oil and 41,862,000 coal. It is comparatively few years since use of oil began; now, the coal-using ships are steadily lessening and the oil-burning ones are gaining in numbers. There are 1,087 tank ships on the seas, transporting oil; and about 37 per cent are American, representing, however, 44 per cent of the world's total tanker tonnage.

Oil bunkering stations have been established all over the world. An oil-burning vessel is just as sure to find fuel supplies where she needs them as a coal burner. This means that British mines are losing a vast market and British ships are losing this part of their carrying trade. The larger part of the oil bunkering business is American because America produces most of the oil—well above 70 per cent of the world's supply.

A long ton of coal, 2,240 pounds, is equal to four barrels of oil, 1,352 pounds, for power production. The saving in weight and space is of course a highly important element. Oil is handled more cheaply and quickly, and with none of the dirt and discomfort that are involved in "bunkering" a ship with coal. In the case of oil, lines of huge hose are laid to the storage tanks, valves are turned, and the fuel is pumped aboard just as it is pumped into a motor car. With coal, endless lines of sweating, half-naked laborers carry it aboard through long hours of toil. The stokehold of the oil-burning ship shows like changes, for fires are fed and regulated by the turn of a valve. The boiler room is changed from an inferno to a clean and interesting department.

Incidentally, the passing of the old-fashioned coal bunkering system is taking from the women one of the occupations which, in some parts, has traditionally belonged to them. In the backward countries, the men have been "totally" willing to let the women "tote" the coal aboard ship in baskets. New methods are doing away with the drudgery. Even where women don't vote they are setting on!

But the substitution of oil for coal is a blow to England's foremost industry, and another long step in the transfer of industrial leadership across the Atlantic.

The Chewing LAXATIVE

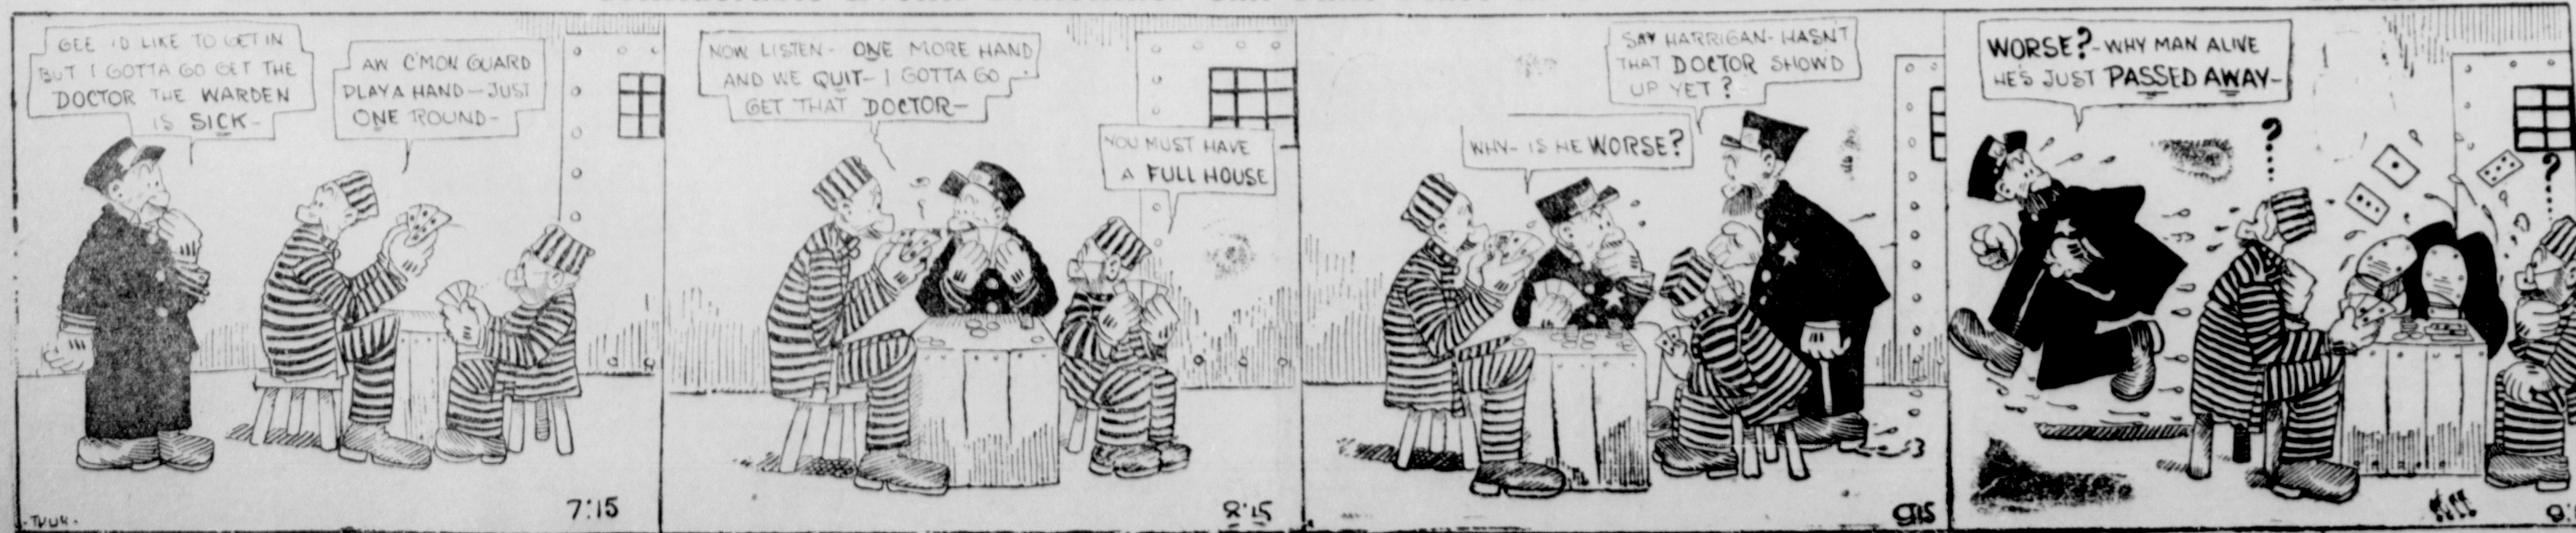

Chew It Like Chewing Gum

A pleasure to use. Very efficient. Children love it. No taste but that of sweet mint. The most popular laxative because it's a "satisfier." 15c and 25c.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE
RECESS APPOINTMENTS

Washington, March 5.—(UP)—President Coolidge today gave recess appointments to Orestes H. Caldwell of New York and Henry A. Bellows of Minnesota as members of the Federal Radio commission.

These appointments were previously made, but not acted upon by the senate.

ALLEGED BANK
BANDITS SEEK COURT RELEASE

Chicago, March 5.—(UP)—Hearing on a writ of habeas corpus brought by attorneys for "big Dave" Earsman, Tony Serpa, and John "Shinner" Crawford, alleged bank robbers, was held over until March 16 by Chief Justice William Lindsey of the criminal court.

Judge Lindsey said he would await action of Gov. Len Small, who has announced he will hold a hearing on March 11 on extradition of the trio to Rochester, Minn., where they are charged with robbing the Olmstead bank.

Lois Moran and Jack Mulhall in the Herbert Brenon Production 'God Gave Me 20 Cents' A Paramount Picture

Brenon Makes Prediction About His Latest Picture

"The fewer the characters, the better the story," says Herbert Brenon, the man who directed "Beau Geste" and who has just completed Paramount's "God Gave Me Twenty Cents," which comes to the Lyceum theatre Sunday, with Lois Moran, Lya de Putti, Jack Mulhall and William Collier Jr., in featured roles.

This is the picture that was chosen to open the Paramount theatre, New York City recently.

Boyd No "Man O' War"

"Her Man O' War" has nothing to do with the race horse of that name! It's the title of a picture starring Jetta Goudal under the De Mille banner, and the man o' war is William
